Elegant icons of the past

BY REBEKAH SCOTT

"Indiscrete" and "Shocking" and "Mamselle Lulu" glisten behind glass in the window of SeaGate Centre downtown. They are perfume bottles, products of Toledo's industrial past, elegant icons of a smellier era.

They are part of a historical sweep of DeVilbiss perfume atomizers on display through Oct. 3 at the convention center, part of the International Perfume Bottle Association's Oct. 2 and 3 regional conference and auction.

The DeVilbiss atomizer, the hometown name some associate with paint sprayers for auto assembly lines, is here recalled first as a medical device, designed by Dr. Allen DeVilbiss in 1888 to coat sore throats with goose grease. Within 20 years, combined with glass salt-shakers supplied by local glass houses, his atomizing invention became a perfume-sprayer.

As time went on, the simple molded-glass perfume bottles evolved into big-ticket luxury items.

A close look at these bottles tells a Toledo history tale, says James Fuller, a local insurance agent and collector of DeVilbiss perfume bottles. "Back at the turn of the century, perfume was really the thing," he said. "Those were pre-deodorant days, you know. You probably didn't have a shower in your house. Perfume was extra important."

The prim hanky grandma held to her nose was probably scented, he said — a polite way to shield her delicate senses from others' bodily aromas.

Back then, perfume wasn't bought in bottles. Ladies bought perfume bottles to match their vanity table ensembles, and had them filled with their favorite scents at the druggist or department store counters.

As time went on, simple molded-glass perfume bottles evolved to big-ticket luxury items. In the boom days of the 1920s, DeVilbiss marketed crystal bottles etched and painted with flowers or lattices. The ladies of Toledo's Hungarian community were recruited to crochet tiny pouches for the rubber atomizer bulbs, and the company gave prizes for the finest needle and beadwork. The company also marketed "perfume lamps," trendy little nightlights that also heated a puddle of perfume to scent the era's poorly ventilated rooms.

omizer crafters, painters, etchers, and needleworkers combined to create an expensive gift for a wife or lover.

The finished products were packaged in elaborate "presentation boxes," satin-lined leather padded for posterity. The SeaGate display includes one such box, complete with Christmas tag. A black lacquered atomizer with orange flowers still has the gift tag attached to the top: "To Ethel from Herschel, Christmas 1926."

"She used it," Mr. Fuller said. "There's residue at the bottom. When the perfume was gone, she decided to keep the bottle as a remembrance. She put it back in the box, and it stayed there in her dresser drawer for 70 years. We found it at an auction."

The Depression struck hard on luxury industries like this one, and designs from the 1930s reflect more austere tastes. With the '40s came flashy "crackle-glaze" globes, and the '50s brought a collection of Lenox China bottles shaped like penguins, bunnies, and fish. By the '60s, perfume lamps were back in style, and a popular "choo-choo" nightlight appeared.

But the glory days were over. The company moved to Somerset, Pa., in 1951, and stopped producing perfume bottles in 1969. In recent years, however, a collectors' market has grown up around the perfume bottles, with some rare examples selling for up to $2,500. Mr. Fuller and his wife, antique dealer Carole Fuller, are in the thick of a new boom in DeVilbiss.

"It started out as an interest, then it became really fun," Mr. Fuller said. "Then it became like a love affair — a chemistry developed. It's grown from a fondness to an obsession as these things became harder to come by."

A "fair portion" of the items displayed at SeaGate come from the Fuller collection, transported in swaths of disposable diapers and bubble wrap.

"They are beautiful, useful things," Mr. Fuller said. "It's a real harmony of glass and hardware, with the bottle somehow telling the story of the scent."

CROWDS ONCE POURED ACROSS SUMMIT STREET TO VISIT FORMER TIEDTKE'S

Magic Of Tiedtke's May Be Recaptured

By JOHN GRIGSBY
Blade Staff Writer

Most people had trouble pronouncing or spelling the name, but everyone in town knew a visitor meant Tiedtke's when he talked about "that store" in Toledo he had heard about.

Tiedtke's often was known as America's first supermarket, the nation's most unusual department store or the largest grocery store during its 79-year existence.

The combination of a farmers market, country store, main street, bazaar, circus midway, carnival or variety shop — all under one roof in downtown Toledo — made Tiedtke's a delight for all ages.

Thousands from northwestern Ohio and southern Michigan regularly thronged into the Summit Street store until it closed in 1972.

It is only a coincidence that Portside Festival Marketplace not only has been built where Tiedtke's used to be, but that it also is designed to be a fun place to shop, Debbie Werbel, of the Portside marketing department, said.

"WE'RE NOT TRYING to imitate Tiedtke's, but we do hope we can capture some of its magic that made it such a popular attraction for so many years," Mrs. Werbel said.

Tiedtke's left a nostalgic imprint both on Toledoans and on those from the farms, the towns and the small cities surrounding Toledo who customarily came here to shop.

Its blend of sight, sound and smell belonged to it alone. Only a visit there could convey the effect.

Farther inside were fragrances of candy, tobacco, flowers, perfume, freshly roasted coffee, tea, spices, fresh bread, pastries, cheeses, fresh fruits and vegetables, pickles, oysters, vinegar, fresh fish and the offerings of the restaurant.

For the ear were various clerks shouting their wares, Victrolas playing records, a piano player and a vocalist plugging the latest sheet-music hits, and the sounds of the peanut-butter and coffee grinders.

AND ABOVE ALL the other sounds on the first floor was the pipe organ booming old and new tunes. The organist played shoppers' requests that were called out to a tiny window over the main corridor.

For the eye were banners proclaiming specials; racks of fruits and vegetables; clerks juggling five or more oranges or grapefruit; the taffy-pulling machinery; meat cutters at work.

Customers talked of Tiedtke's in superlatives. Any number were convinced that the store had the best: candy, coffee, bread, meats, fish, produce cheeses, luncheon meats, spices, tobaccos, housewares, rugs, furniture, bedding.

Tiedtke's had a restaurant with windows overlooking the Maumee River and even had its own fishing fleet. It ran a huge parking lot on Water Street, and the store's delivery service was excellent.

TWO BROTHERS, Charles and Ernest Tiedtke, opened their first store, at Summit and Monroe streets, in 1893. They offered all types of foodstuffs in one spot instead of in separate bakery, butcher and fruit shops.

Tiedtke's was situated in other Summit Street buildings until it opened at 408 Summit in 1910.

The brothers sold out their interests in 1925, but the Tiedtke tradition held on until a Detroit firm took the store over in 1961 and finally went bankrupt in 1972.

The abandoned building, under demolition as part of the downtown urban renewal program, was destroyed in a spectacular nighttime fire in 1975.

LIZZIE

Everytime you pick up a newspaper or magazine, you read about the difficult times we are going through. But do we really have it so tough?

Lizzie Reining (nee Mary Ann Elizabeth Swin) was born Feb. 9, 1878 in Napoleon, Oh. She was the second daughter and second child of Peter and Caroline Swin. Lizzie told stories of working in the fields even when she had a broken toe, how they had to go barefoot until the coldest of weather and of only being able to go through third grade in school. It was an unglamourous childhood, but probably typical of the times and area.

At 19 she married Joe Krieger and at age 27 had four children and was living on a small farm in Delta, Oh. Joe died suddenly in 1908, leaving her, George 10, Clarence 8, Josephine 4 and Virgie 3. At best it was going to be a struggle for survival since there was no unemployment insurance, welfare, social security or food stamps to see her through.

A friend wanted to take Josephine and raise her. Lizzie thought it might be best for the little girl, but tormented herself over the decision. Someone told her that "you could feed the baby on the table-scraps you throw away", so Lizzie brought Jo back home. What philosophy!

Lizzie pulled up her bootstraps and continued on. She and George hauled milk for the Pet Company. They would get up before dawn, hitch the wagon and traverse the countryside picking up the large metal cans. George worked like a man on the backbreaking chore. There was no time to rest. If they couldn't get the milk to the company on time, someone else would get the job.

She rented out her own fields, but kept a garden for the family's use. During the growing season she hired herself out to hoe corn for a dollar a day.

Once a week she would go in to the boarding house and pick up their laundry. Back at the farm she would pump the water, haul it to the kettle to heat, haul it back to the washtubs and scrub things clean on the washboard. Of course, laundry was hung out to dry in hot or freezing weather. For all this work she received 50¢ a week!

One of the gentlemen at the boarding house took a liking to this spirited young woman. He just hated knowing that she struggled and labored so hard. So he came up with the offer that he would pay her 50¢ a week just to do his laundry. But since she had said she'd do it all, she didn't backdown and take the easy way out.

The gentleman was Hermen Reining, a molder who was raised in Toledo. He was so 'fancy dressed" and so refined to this farm girl. They married in 1910.

A molder had to go where the work was, so after a few years in Delta, they moved to Bryan, Oh., then on to Owosso, Mi. In each town a child was born to them. Finally work brought them back to Toledo.

During this period, Lizzie had the security she needed and wanted. She was able to be "just a homemaker" and take care of the 7 SEVEN children she now had.

As the children grew older, modern technology was taking over and Hermen's work was becoming harder and harder to find. He ~~sometimes~~ went out of town to work while Lizzie stayed in Toledo with the children. On one job, a mold burst and he was burned. It was not a critical injury, but he was not able to work for awhile.

When Hermen was out of town and recovering from knowing that she strugeled and labored so hard. So he came up with the offer that he would pay her 75¢ a week just to do his laundry. But since she had said she'd do it all, she didn't backdown and take the easy way out.

The gentlemen was Herman Reinink, a molder who was raised in Toledo. He was so fancy dressed and so refined to this farm girl. They married in 1910.

A molder had to go where the work was, so after a few years in Delta, they moved to Bryan, Oh., then on to Owosso, Mi. In each town a child was born to them.
Finally work brought them back to Toledo.

During this period, Lizzie had the security she needed and wanted. She was able to be "just a homemaker" and take care of the 4 children she now had.

Seven

As the children grew older, modern technology was taking over and Herman's work was becoming harder and harder to find. He sometimes went out of town to work while Lizzie stayed in Toledo with the children.
On one job, a mold burst and he was burned. It was not a critical injury, but he was not able to work for awhile.

When Herman was out of town and recovering from his injuries, Lizzie picked up work wherever she could find it to help make ends meet. The depression was at hand and jobs were not plentiful for anyone.

She did seasonal work at the Hunt tomato factory; crocheted covers for atomizers for DeVilbis Co,; tipped umbrellas; sewed seatcovers for Jeep and finally went to Toledo Hospital and worked in the laundry. She worked there for over ~~20~~ twenty years.

She was never idle. She crocheted doilies, chair sets and dresser scarves to such an extent that even her great-grandchildren who never knew her, have a piece of her handwork.

In the early 40's, Hermen's health failed. He was near retirement age, but no one seems to know if he recieved any sort of Pension.

We do know that Lizzie was glad to be working and caring for Hermen. She always said, "He took care of me and my four little ones when I needed it, so now I'll take care of him when he needs it."

I hope I've inherited just some of the spirit and spunk my grandmother had. She died July 5, 1958 at the age of 80.

And for those twenty years Lizzie didn't jump into her car and drive to work. [illegible] Six mornings a week she would board the streetcar or bus, ride downtown, transfer buses and ride out to the hospital. Every evening she would reverse the process regardless of weather, temperature or how she felt.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

THE STATE OF OHIO,

LUCAS COUNTY, ss.

To all who shall see these Presents, Greeting:

KNOW YE, That on the Seventeenth day of October Anno Domini 189 5, at a Probate Court held at the Probate Office, in the City of Toledo, in and for said County of Lucas and State of Ohio, personally came Hermann Heissing a native of Germany and proved to the Court that he had arrived in the United States before he had attained the 18th year of his age, and made the requisite declaration of his intention to be Naturalized, and become a Citizen of the United States; and also proved, to the satisfaction of the Court, that he has behaved as a man of good moral character, attached to the principles of the Constitution of the United States, and well disposed to the good order and happiness of the same. And having fully complied with the laws of the United States in relation to the Naturalization of Aliens, and on being admitted by this Court, took the oath to support the Constitution of the United States of America, and to Absolutely and Entirely Renounce and Abjure all allegiance and fidelity to every Foreign Prince, Potentate, State or Sovereignty whatsoever, and particularly to The Emperor of Germany whose subject he was.

This is, Therefore, to Certify, That the same Hermann Heissing is admitted a CITIZEN OF THE UNITED STATES.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto subscribed my name officially, and affixed the seal of said Court, at the City of Toledo, in said County, this 17th day of October *A. D. 189*5

DEAR HELEN,

I RECENTLY HAD OCCASION TO LOOK UP THE LETTER YOU SENT ME SEVERAL (9) YEARS AGO CONCERNING THE KRIEGER FAMILY TREE. I THOUGHT YOU MIGHT BE INTERESTED WHAT HAS OCCURED.

I HAVE A HOME COMPUTER AND MY OLDEST SON ENCOURAGED ME TO LOG ON TO A COMMERCIAL BULLETIN BOARD - COMPUSERVE. IF YOU ARE UNFAMILIAR, YOU NEED A MODEM AND THEN YOU CAN USE YOUR COMPUTER ALMOST LIKE A CB RADIO OVER THE PHONE LINES. WHILE ON LINE I CAME ACROSS A "ROBERT A. KRIEGER" FROM LANCASTER CA.. HE QUESTIONED IF THERE COULD BE A CONNECTION BETWEEN OUR FAMILIES SINCE HIS DAD WAS FROM LORIAN OHIO. I HAVE RELAYED SOME OF THE INFORMATION YOU PROVIDED FOR ME AND TOLD HIM OF YOUR WORK. I ASKED HIM TO LET ME KNOW IF HE IS ABLE TO SEE ANY CONNECTIONS.

I KNOW THAT THIS IS NOTHING EARTH SHAKING BUT I THOUGHT IT MIGHT BE INTERESTING TO YOU. I'LL LET YOU KNOW IF I HEAR FROM HIM AGAIN.

I ALMOST THOUGHT THAT I WOULD BE ABLE TO BUILD ON WHAT YOU HAVE STARTED AS IT LOOKED FOR A WHILE THAT THE GROUP I WORK IN MIGHT BE TRANSFERRED TO DEFIANCE. THAT DOESN'T LOOK SO LIKELY NOW BUT I WILL BE DOING WORK FOR THE PLANT THERE. I WILL PROBABLY BE GOING TO VISIT THE PLANT FROM TIME TO TIME. MAYBE WE CAN GET TOGETHER IF THAT HAPPENS.

AGAIN I WANT TO THAK YOU FOR TAKING THE TIME TO SHARE WHAT YOU FOUND CONCERNING THE KRIEGERS.

SINCERELY

Dear Helen,

Sorry about my slowness but that seems to be the story of my life. The week that I received your request for the obits was the same week that my sister , June, passed away. That plus having had almost three months of six ten hour days a week has really put me behind.

I really wanted to come down this summer and see what you have learned about our family. I believe I let you know that I was able to visit my grandpa Krieger's grave site and found my great grandfather's next to it. The info you have given me indicates that my great-great grandfather's grave should be there but I wasn't able to locate it. Some of the stones were badly weathered and it may be one of them.

It sure would be interesting to see the church records from the early 1900's and search for references to the family. I have talked to Mennonite people I've met here in Saginaw and they suggested contacting the Mennonite College in Goshan (sp) Ind. The said that they have pretty good records of Mennonite families and local church histories.

Summer isn't over yet maybe we will still be able to make it down there.

I have been able to get some additional information that you might like to have.

My oldest brother Clarence has one son ,Greg (adopted). Here is his info:

Gregory Lynn Krieger - Aug,26,1951 and his wife
Debra Sue (Trembly) Krieger - May 4, 1954 their 2 son's

Heath Derick Krieger - Oct. 24, 1984

My next brother, Robert, has 4 children. I haven't gotten their Birthdays yet but to help you out a bit they are;

Ann Christine and husband Fred Pierson with one daughter Anna.
Tresea and husband John Barrios with two children , John Paul and Kimblery
Robert Jr, and wife Lois
Rosemary Baley (devorced) and 3 son's.

I'll try to fill in the birthdays and anniv. soon. Then -

My sister June and her husband Bob had 7 Children.

The oldest to the youngest-

Robert Barrigar	1/7/48 and his wife - (married 8/15/69)
Karen	8/18/52 and their 8 children

LeeAra Ruth (Smith) Krieger	3/29/71
John Peter Krieger	3/10/67 Unmarried (trying to set a date now)

I recently received some software bundled with some other software called Family Origins and will be installing it some day soon. When I get it running I'll send you a copy of the reports to you that should be more complete.

I hope we can get together soon.

Sincerely,

George

Mayor Carty Finkbeiner passes a call off to Bob Summerset, risk management officer.

Hundreds of Toledoans call city with complaints

BY BLADE STAFF WRITER

Mayor Carty Finkbeiner has always been known as a real charmer one-on-one. Yesterday, answering the phones and hearing citizen complaints, he had a chance to work his magic.

"I appreciate you calling today, and don't you be bashful about calling in the future," he told a caller who wanted a tree trimmed on California Boulevard.

Mr. Finkbeiner was one of more than 30 city officials answering the phones as part of Call City Hall, a program designed to get citizens' complaints heard and taken care of. In all, officials fielded 1,743 calls in a 12-hour period.

"The fact that people are calling tells me that they still have faith in city government, and that we can help their problems," he said.

Most of the complaints were about quality-of-life issues: litter that needs clearing, potholes that need filling, sidewalks that need mending. "Toledo must not be all that bad off if people are complaining about trees," Deputy Police Chief Linda Mason said. She had just taken a call from a woman who wanted the city to plant a tree

In Memoriam

IN loving memory of David Shanteau, Jr., who passed away Feb. 17, 1929. All others may forget but we'll always remember—Mother and Dad, sisters and brother.

IN loving memory of my wife, Jean, who passed away one year ago today.
Just a thought of sweet remembrance,
Just a memory sad and true,
Just a love and sweet devotion,
Of those who often think of you.
Sadly missed by her husband, Louis L. Yakley.

To tell you the truth, I saw nothing at Martha's that anyone could possibly want. Paul found one small envelope with negatives in it. He's going to go through them and see if there was anything that he would like prints made of and then he's going to pass them on. I'll let you know. As for doilies, nothing.

I was lucky when my grandmothers died. All of the doilies my one grandmother had made no one wanted, so I took all of them. I'm still using them today. That is really a dying art.

I don't believe you've ever met Diana. She had to pick her daughter up at Cincinnati Airport the afternoon of Martha's funeral. Seeing it would have been a 5 hour drive from Toledo she couldn't make it.

As for dates:

Thomas Louis Reining - dob - 11/13/37 - married Jo Ann Schikora - 10/31/66
Thomas retired from Ford Motor Company after 32 years of service 12/31/00
Jo Ann Schikora Reining - dob - 6/7/45

children of Thomas and Jo Ann:
Debra Lynn Reining - dob - 3/8/67
Kimberly Ann Reining - dob - 8/26/69
Diana Lynn Reining - dob - 8/6/71 children of Debra (spouse well forgotten)(don't print that) Elizabeth Catherine Richards - dob - 12/3/89

Jessica Mary Richards - dob - 11/15/91 children of Kimberly - married Bradley Boyer - 9/18/94

Bradley Thomas Boyer - dob - 6/4/96
Rebecca Ann Boyer - dob - 3/23/98
Sara Ann Boyer - dob - 10/24/00

children of Diana - married/divorced - Andrew Goulding - 10/27/89
Nicole Alexandria Goulding - dob - 2/23/90

If you can think of anything else, let me know. Considering Tom doesn't know much about his family (which is a total shame), your book has been very enlightening. He spent a great deal of time reading it.

Take care.

Craighead, Jr., a scientist who pioneered the first comprehensive field studies of the fearsome grizzly bear, has died. He was 85.

Mr. Craighead died Oct. 21 in a hospital in Jackson, Wyo., after a long struggle with Parkinson's disease.

Known as one of the nation's most versatile naturalists, Mr. Craighead wrote six books, ranging from a popular Rocky Mountains wildflower guide to a survival manual for Naval aviators trapped behind enemy lines. Along with his twin brother, John of Missoula, Mont., he was one of the principal architects of the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act, signed into law in 1968.

GM's $2.5 billion in overall 1993 earnings equaled $2.13 a share compared with a net loss of $23.5 billion, or a per share loss of $38.28 — mostly due to a one-time accounting charge for future retiree health benefits. Fourth-quarter income was $1.2 billion, or $1.28 a share, compared with a loss of $652 million, or $1.25 a share, in the October-December 1992 period.

Fourth-quarter sales were $34.1 billion, up 7.2 per cent from $31.9 billion in the same period of 1992. For the year, revenues were $138.2 billion, up 4.5 per cent from $132.2 billion.

GM's unfunded pension liability ended 1993 at $22.3 billion, an amount the company would probably never have to pay at one time.

Market Tends Lower During Early Dealings

Analysts Point To 'Nervous' Condition; Exxon, Du Pont, Homestake Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved lower today in a continuation of Thursday's unusual late-session sell-off, brokers said.

The 11 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 5.30 at 857.78. Advances edged declines on the New York Stock Exchange 358 to 329 among 1,003 issues traded.

"The market is still very, very nervous," said Larry Wachtel of Bache & Co. "There's really no bad news this morning, but there's no real conviction in the market either."

The market strengthened most of the day Thursday, then dropped sharply in the last hour to close lower.

Volume leader on the New York Stock Exchange was Colonial Penn Group, up ⅛ at 44⅛. Thursday the stock was also most-active on several large blocks.

Texaco gained ⅜ to 29⅛ on mite, lost 2 to 159½ at the opening. Procter & Gamble, which skidded Thursday, lost ⅞ to 89⅝. Homestake Mining opened off 4½ at 90.

On the American Stock Exchange, Solitron was volume leader, up ⅜ at 5⅝, followed by Syntex, down ½ at 53¾, and Giant Yellowknife, off 1⅛ to 21⅞.

Toledo Scale Local No. 773 Retiree Chapter

By ROLLIE LEONARD

Attention! The next meeting of the Retiree Chapter will be held at the Close Park Shelter House, April 21, 1 p.m., the third Friday. We will meet here from now on. We wish to thank Local 14 for the use of their hall. We sure appreciated their kindess. The main reason for moving back is the fact that we have a number of Retirees who can not climb the steps. The Shelter House is on ground level.

Just picked up the paper and read that William F. Summersett 'Doc' died in Florida. Doc was in Systems. He retired July 31, 1958. Our condolences to the family.

Dear Helen,

I sure was pleasantly surprised the other day to find the envelope with all that information in the mail. I've called the others here in Saginaw to let them know about it. As soon as we can get a chance I'll get it copied for each of the others.

June has been looking for that article that mom had about Grandpa Reining from the Toledo Blade, but so far hasn't found it. Mom kept snapshots, news clippings, etc. in several plastic sweater boxes and June hasthem now. She said she still has a couple to go through.

Every one here is in good health, but we have been very busy. I don't think we have had a evening at home since we were down there. At least we don't have time to get into trouble.

I wish we had information we could contribute to your records, but I guess we are just to far removed by both time and space. We all sure do appreciate your sharing the fruits of your labors with us.

I've got a couple days off coming and the boys have asked if we could go to Cedar Point when school is out. Depending on our schedule I'll at least try to call on our way through if we do make the trip.

Thanks again,

George Krueger

Exam Theft Charge Dropped By Judge

A charge stemming from the alleged theft of an examination at the University of Toledo has been dismissed in Toledo Municipal Court by Judge Thaddeus Walinski.

Tracy Reining was charged by university police with theft of an item valued at less than $300.

Judge Walinski said yesterday said the case was dismissed because the arresting officer had not notarized the court affidavit. He said that it is standard procedure for an arresting officer to make out, sign and swear to facts in the document in the presence of a court official.

Frank Pizzulo, director of campus security, said he was not aware of the details of the dismissal and consequently declined to comment.

Miss Reining, 19, of 2315 Country Squire Lane, was summoned into court on the charge a first degree misdemeanor that carries a maximum penalty of six months in jail, a fine of $1,000 or both.

University police had said earlier that a woman who was not a student walked into a finance class last Wednesday where an examination was being distributed, took a copy and left. The woman was chased and caught by university personnel and the test taken from her, UT police said.

"It will also allow for substantial savings in operating costs," Mr. Celeste said. The state will provide $40 million in capital improvement funds toward the estimated $54 million cost of construction, he said.

Edward Jennings, president of the university, told the press conference that another $14 million would be provided through university, hospital and federal funds. "The $14 million is essentially scientific equipment and the facilities to house it," Mr. Jennings said.

One thing the Japanese object to is the multiplicity of U.S. bases in their overcrowded country. Tachikawa, near Tokyo, was once a U.S. Air Force transport base. Today it is only a housing area, and not a plane has taken off from there in the last 18 months.

Some Americans think it might be smart for the United States to abandon its air and

Examination Heist Leads To Charge Against Woman

Everyone has at one time or another aken an examination.

Figuratively, that is.

But literal meaning was placed on he taking this week at the University f Toledo at the start of a test for a inance course.

University police said a woman who s not a student at the university walked nto the room where the test papers were being distributed, took a copy and eft the room.

The woman was chased and caught by university personnel and the test taken from her, university police said.

Tracy Reining, 19, of 2315 Country Squire Lane, was charged by university police with theft of an item valued under $300, and summoned to appear Wednesday in Toledo Municipal Court.

The charge is a first-degree misdemeanor with a maximum penalty of six months in jail, a fine of $1,000 or both.

Dr. Douglas Austin, professor in the department of finance, whose class it was, said tests were scheduled for 2 and 5:30 p.m. that day and he believes the paper was being taken for a student scheduled to take the later test.

Sgt. Von Stambaugh, of the university police, said authorities believe they know who that is, but would not give further details.

He said he could not recall a similar incident. Nor could Bill Bess, director of public safety at Bowling Green State University.

Dr. Austin said the irony of the situation was that in an effort to preclude cheating there were several versions of the test for the two classes, so the chances of the correct one being taken were slight.

McCormick-Reining Wedding

On Saturday, October 1, Joyce McCormick became the bride of Jack Reining in the Maumee Methodist Church, Sackett Street, Maumee. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harley McCormick, 5122 Prestler, Toledo, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Reining, 34 Dorcas Road, Toledo. Reverend Edward Brandeberry performed the ceremony before an altar decorated with candles, and bouquets of white mums and gladiolas.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a satin gown designed with a scoop neckline, long tapered sleeves and a detachable chapel train which was fastened at the shoulders with satin bows. The dress and train were decorated with seed pearls. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a tiered pearl crown. She carried a cascade of pearled gardenias and orange garnet roses.

Miss Pat McCormick, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Judy McFellin, Miss Sandra Hubbell, and Mrs. Linda Packer. They wore floor length gowns of orange crepe and lace fashioned with empire waist lines, elbow length sleeves, and a lace train. They carried yellow mums.

om Reining, brother of room, was best man. shers were Kenneth Robert Taube, and rson.

Mrs. Jack Reining

Jacqueline Richer, godchild of the bride's parents, attended to the guest book.

The bride's mother wore a light blue sheath dress and jacket with matching accessories. Her flowers were white with french mums and blue roses. The bridegroom's mother chose a two piece royal blue silk suit with white purse and hat. Her flowers were white roses tipped in silver and pink mums.

After a reception for 350 guests at the Adams Conservation Club, the couple left on a trip to Niagara Falls, Canada. The bride was wearing a navy blue sheath with matching accessories.

The couple are both graduates of Springfield Local High School and the bridegroom is a member of the Army Reserve. They will make their home at 30 Dorcas Road, Toledo.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Spear, Valley Stream Dr., both alumni of the University of Toledo, will attend the homecoming festivities on Oct. 15.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Scott, Kinsman Rd., were Mrs. Connie Springston, and Lucille Pickering, both of Newark, Ohio.

Have you met Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hodge, 5936 Granville Dr.? Mr. Hodge has completed his service in the US Army, and comes from Ft. Hood, Texas. Mrs. Hodge is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George K. Louden, South Crestridge.

Dr. Robert Oelerich, Valley Stream Dr., is recuperating at home after surgery.

A visitor from England expected on Oct. 22, will be Mrs. Oelerich's brother, Jim Niles, who comes from the Denham Air Force Base.

There were two candles on the birthday cake of Rebecca Lynn, Oct. 4, at the family gathering. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Knapich, Millicent Dr. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry and their daughter Kim were special guests at her party.

Mrs. William A. Braidwood, Karen and Lon of Bentbrook Drive spent the weekend in Manton, Mich., visiting with the children's 94 year old great grandfather, Lester Carnahan, at a family reunion. Mr. Carnahan is very active, still driving his own car.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jacob, Orchard Hills, attended the Detroit Lions football game last Sunday to celebrate Mrs. Jacob's birthday.

Annual Corn Roast

The 31st annual Sylvania Schools Faculty Men's corn roast was held Sept. 21. at the VFW Hall. The menu was the same as it has been all these years, all the corn you could eat, weiners, potatoes, iced tea and coffee, dessert cookies, cupcakes and fruit.

from 65 to 90 men have attended the affair. "Pop" Wyandt and R. Niswander prepared all the food for the past 31 years.

After everyone was stuffed with food, the men played poker and euchre just for fun.

Mr. Niswander and Mr.

The first corn roast was held at the home of Ira Baumgartner and 16 men attended the affair. The roast was moved to Robert "Pop" Wyandt's home next year and held there until 1963 when the crowd of faculty men grew to over 50. The next year the roast was held in the VFW buiding and for the last three years

Wyandt have resigned from the Sylvania Schools and plans are uncertain for the next year's corn roast.

Mr. Wyandt has completed his book, "A Century and A Quarter of Education in the Sylvanis Public Schools". A review of the book will be published soon in The Sentinel.

November. They have purchased a home on Meadowwood Drive in Old Orchard.

LOCATION: The Johnson Cemetery is located on the south side of US Alternate 20, east of the Tiffin River, one and one-half miles west of Burlington. (E1/2, Sec 7, T7N, R5E.)

HISTORY: The cemetery is located on land granted to P. Evans in 1834. William Johnson acquired the property in 1836 and the first burials were soon to follow. William and Margaret Johnson deeded the cemetery to the Burial Ground Association in 1854. The burial ground is today the responsibility of the German Township Trustees. The recording starts at the northwest corner and all rows are read moving to the south.

BURIAL REGISTERS

Deceased persons were usually buried within a few days of their death. The pastor recorded the name of the deceased, the burial date, and death date. Early death registers failed to record the place of birth and age of the deceased. Death registers from the 1800s often give cause of death and even the names of survivors.

In general, the keeping of church records in Mecklenburg began in 1602 when the Evangelical Lutheran Church made a proclamation requiring every parish to maintain a church book. A few parishes kept church records before the proclamation. The church records of Roevershagen, for example start in 1580. Receipt books of the parish of Toitenwinkel date from 1562.

Overall, the efficient recording of all baptisms, marriages, and deaths developed slowly. The record keeping requirement was limited, at first, to baptisms, marriages, and confir-registers. In 1650 a revised church proclamation repeated the order to keep church books and added a requirement to maintain death registers. On March 19, 1764, the churches of Mecklenburg-Strelitz were ordered to keep their church books in an orderly and conscientious manner. A uniform system of record keeping was introduced in Mecklenburg-Schwerin in 1786 and in Mecklenburg-Strelitz in 1810. As of 11 September 1815 all parishes in Mecklenburg were required to keep a register of confirmations, but confirmation registers of many parishes date from as early as 1800. Indexes of the church records were officially started on 10 March 1881 but some parishes have indexes of their earlier church books.

Unfortunately, a great number of Mecklenburg's church records were destroyed in the wars of the 1600s. Others were destroyed as parish houses burned. In 1704, because of concerns about such destruction, some parishes began making copies of their church books. On December 18, 1874, the Evangelical Church Council of Mecklenburg-Schwerin requested that existing duplicate copies of all church books up to 1750 be handed over for safekeeping to the Confidential and Main Archives (Geheime und Hauptarchiv) in Schwerin. The practice of making copies of church books was introduced as law throughout Mecklenburg-Schwerin in 1786. The original intent of this law was to copy all the available church records. This could not be accomplished, however, because there was so much to be copied. Instead, on 3 January 1787 it was ordered that only the books after 1740 needed to be copied. These copies were to be delivered to the Superintendent-Archive (Superintendenturarchiv). Although this request was not completely obeyed, most parishes did comply and at least the copies were made. In 1914, a further proclamation extended the requirement to turn in their old church registers to the Confidential and Main Archives up to the year 1786.

Mecklenburg-Strelitz introduced a law requiring parishes to make duplicates of their church records in 1803. This law also required that the copies be turned in to the main archive (Hauptarchiv) in Neustrelitz. This requirement was legislated again in 1927.

On 1 January 1934 Mecklenburg-Schwerin and Mecklenburg-Strelitz were united. At that time the collections of church records at the archives in Schwerin and Neustrelitz were gathered together in the Confidential and Main Archives (Geheime und Hauptarchiv) in Schwerin which was renamed as the State Archives (Staatsarchiv). Then on 1 May 1934, the Evangelical Church Council established a central office for parish church books (Kirchenbuchabteilung) also in Schwerin. All Mecklenburg church records that had not already been deposited in an archive or that were not still in use were brought to this office. In 1935 this office was renamed the Mecklenburg Genealogical Bureau (Mecklenburgischen Sippenkanzlei). The parish registers, some 2,000 volumes, were carefully inventoried. As this was done it became evident that there were many gaps in the original church books and in the indexes, but many of these gaps could be filled in because of duplicate copies which had been gathered in the State Archives. Thus all church books of Mecklenburg not currently in use were available for genealogical research in the city of Schwerin. Local parishes still held the volumes currently in use.

During the Second World War, the Mecklenburg church records were moved for safe-keeping to salt mines in Grasleben, near Helmstedt. After the war this area fell into the British occupation zone. The British authorities sent these records to a zonal archival storage place at a palace just outside the city of Goslar in the Harz mountains. In 1951 the Genealogical Society of Utah microfilmed the church books of Mecklenburg in Goslar. Thereafter, the records were deposited at the Cathedral Archive (Domarchiv) in Ratzeburg, the only Mecklenburg city that ended up in West Germany.

In addition to the Evangelical church records, the Genealogical Society of Utah has also acquired Catholic church records and Jewish vital records from most of Mecklenburg. These microfilmed records are available at the Family History Center in Salt Lake City. Through a system of family history centers, these records are available for your genealogical research at sites all over the world. The records are cataloged and described in the Family History Library Catalog (TM). This catalog is available on microfiche and on computer compact disk.

The church records are listed in the catalog under:

GERMANY, MECKLENBURG-SCHWERIN, (Parish name) - CHURCH RECORDS

GERMANY, MECKLENBURG-STRELITZ (Parish name) - CHURCH RECORDS.

To use church records for genealogical research, you must select a specific ancestor for whom you know a specific place of birth or marriage. Use a gazetteer to determine the location of the nearest parish church. The gazetteer MECKLENBURGS FAMILIENGESCHICHTLICHE QUELLEN (Hamburg: Richard Hermes Verlag, 1936) Family History Library Book No. 943.2 A5e or Film No. 496,473 item 8, will help you determine the location of the nearest parish for your place. A new, easier to use gazetteer of Mecklenburg is being prepared by the Family History Library entitled MECKLENBURG: GENEALOGICAL OUTLINE AND GAZETTEER. When completed, it will be listed in the Author/Title Section of the Library catalog (microfiche) under the title and in the Locality Section (microfiche and compact disk) under Germany, Mecklenburg-Schwerin - Gazetteers.

Search first for the ancestor you have selected. When you find his birth record, search for the birth records of his brothers and sisters. Then, search for the marriage record of his parents. The marriage record will often lead to the birth records of the parents. Or, estimate the ages of the parents and search for their birth records. Then repeat the process for both the father and the mother.

As you search the records, remember that handwriting and language may be difficult to read. Where indexes are available, be aware that the original records may have been misinterpreted or names may have been omitted. Also look for various ways the name may have been spelled. Spelling was not standardized when these records were made. You may find your ancestor's name spelled differently than it is today.

CIVIL REGISTRATION

Records of births, marriages, and deaths made by the civil government are called civil registration (Personstandsregister or Zivilstandsregister). Civil Registration was introduced in Mecklenburg on January 1, 1876. Civil registration records contain much the same information as that found in church records, usually in greater detail. An advantage of civil registration is that persons of all religions in the town are found in one register.

You can obtain genealogical information from civil registers after 1876 from the vital records at the Civil Registry Office (Standesamt) of the town where your ancestor lived. The Family History Library provides a letter writing guide to assist in writing genealogical letters to Germany. This letter writing guide also appeared in Vol. 1, No. 4 of the GERMAN GENEALOGICAL DIGEST.

HELPFUL INFORMATION FOR FAMILY RESEARCH

Customs Governing Place of Marriage in Mecklenburg.

It is important to note the customs regarding where a marriage took place. Around the 1800s the bride could choose the place (town) to be married in. If she chose to marry somewhere other than her home village, she needed only a Ducal dispensation, which was nearly always granted. If this dispensation was not recorded in the town archives, then it can be very difficult to find the record of the marriage.

Illegitimate Children

Originally, when a child was born in Mecklenburg out of wedlock, he would receive the surname of the father, if the father was known. In that case, criminal charges were filed against his family.

On September 17, 1838, a law was given in Mecklenburg-Schwerin, that the illegitimate child received the surname of the mother if the birth was not followed by marriage of the actual parents. The name of the child was recorded as "alleged" (angeblich) in the church books, if relying on the mother's word. Even if the parents did get married, the child would still be listed with the mother's name, because in most cases the subsequent marriage was not noted by the pastor in the child's birth record. In general, the name of the father was recorded up to the year 1860, after which time the practice gradually came to a stop.

A law regarding surnames for illegitimate children was given for the eastern part of Mecklenburg-Strelitz (the district of Stargard) on March 5, 1840, and on March 20, 1840, for the western part of Mecklenburg (the principality of Ratzeburg). This law required that each illegitimate child had to carry the mother's name, but the name of the father was also recorded, if he admitted to being the father.

Another order was given in 1844 which forbade the pastor to give the child the father's name in the parish register unless the birth of the child was followed by marriage. Illegitimate children of widows carried the name of the deceased husband. After 1844 in Mecklenburg-Strelitz, the name of the father of the illegitimate child was no longer recorded in the church books.

Volume 7 No. 3 will feature additional records of genealogical value in Mecklenburg.

TRANSLATING GERMLISH RECORDS

By Karel Henneberger

I was eager to transcribe old records from Jacob's Church, an extinct congregation near the small town of Leitersburg in western Maryland, even though I knew that at least some of them would be in German. After all, I had already translated some records from Germany of the same period using skills I acquired working with facsimile records in the GERMAN GENEALOGICAL DIGEST. And, while I only speak Kindergarten German, I know something of German grammar peculiarities. So, armed with Edna Bentz's book, IF I CAN, YOU CAN DECIPHER GERMANIC RECORDS, as well as GERMAN FOR GENEALOGY by John W. Heisey, a good German-English dictionary, my basic German, and several years' experience reading old records in English, I was fairly confident that I would have few real problems.

The records begin in 1791 in a clear hand with good black ink. It took me a while to accustom myself to the script, but I had less trouble than I had expected, thanks to those inestimable reference books. 1791. 1792. 1793. Hours and years passed quickly. I had several typewritten pages of records much sooner than I had hoped.

But somewhere in the 1793 records, I realized that things weren't going as smoothly as before. After close comparison of a particular word with letter samples in my much-thumbed references, page flipping back to previous records, and attempts to copy the handwriting, I set the papers aside for a rest. When I returned, the word spoke to me. It wasn't w-e-r, or h-i-e-r or even s-t-e-r (my references indicated the "W," "H" and "St" can be very similar in appearance, and splotches above the word could make a slight hitch in the next-to-last letter an "i"). No, the word I had spent hours puzzling over was h-e-r -- her! Not German. English. The Baptismal record gave the child's name, her parents' names and then said, "her taufzeigen" -- "her godparents." It must be a mistake, I thought. I'd come back to it later.

But not far from that entry, I found in a clear hand with good ink, the words, "his wiffe." Not "seiner frau," his wife. Not "Ehefrau," his wedded wife. Nor "und frau," and wife. Not even the often used "et uxor," Latin for "and wife." No. "His wiffe." English again. Old fashioned, but definitely English.

I also found, in that same year, the word "geboren" (born) spelled various ways -- "gebhoren," "gebuhrn," "geburn," "geborn," and what might have been "born." There was a mark that could have been more than just an ink blot before the "b." Or was it another example of what I was beginning to think of as Germlish, a combination of German and English?

Imaginative spelling occurred in other words, also. "Taufzeigen" was frequently written as "Tauftzeigen. "War (was) and "waren" (were) consistantly showed up as "wahr" and "wahren." An often recurring word, "Eltern" (parents) was occasionally spelled as "Altern" or "Alteren."

The quality of the real German began declining, too. Singular and plural forms were used indiscriminately -- "Die Eltern wahr" (the parents was), "die Tauftmutter Waren" (the godmother

Dear Mrs. Read:

I'll try to answer your questions in about the same order they appeared in your letter of Feb. 17.

Fairfield Village was in Anne Arundel County in 1900. In 1917/18 the area was annexed by Baltimore City. It was in the area near the waterfront south of the present I-895. Some maps still show Fairfield and Curtis Bay in this vicinity.

Enclosed is the obituary for Frederick C. Brockman. I thought the Masonic association might add some information. However, I have learned that the Monumental Lodge #96 has disbanded but any records - if any exist - may be at Sincerity Lodge #181
William Collins, Sec
12 Helicopter Dr.
Balto., MD 21220

I could not find an obit for Henrietta Mueller. Oddly, there was an obit for one Joseph Mueller who died Oct. 4, 1957, son of Joseph and Theresa.

I photocopied a part of a Balto. city street map and marked the location of Baltimore Cemetery. Also, Shannon St. where Frederick C. lived. I called the cemetery and learned that Fred is buried in Hillside Sec., lot 131 which was owned by Helen E. Brockman. It was a two grave lot and the other burial is that of Helen E. Ritchie. I'd guess that she had remarried. Her dates are 1892-1973. The address of the cemetery is:
Baltimore Cemetery
2500 E. North Ave. at Rose
Baltimore, MD 21213 phone 410-327-1101

I did not ask about other possible Brockman burials. My mistake.

Is there a possibility the Sophis Maria was living with Fred and continued to live with Helen - thus with Helen Ritchie?

One other enclosure - a listing of churches where I've marked St. Paul's - the most likely church in the area for Fairfield residents to attend, so you may want to see if they have any records concerning the family.

Next chance I get, I'll try to find Henrietta's death cert. to be sure the date is correct.

In talking with the cemetery people, I learned that Fred's burial was 16 Nov 1938.

That's it for now! Thanks for the check. Betty deKuyper

Trolley Excursion Rate To Aquarium Is Offered

Round Trip For One Fare To Be In Effect Sunday As Experiment

Baltimoreans prone to trolley riding and aquariums may enjoy both this Sunday the Baltimore Transit Company announced yesterday in making a special round-trip offer to the Municipal Aquarium for the price of one fare.

From 1 to 7 P. M. on Sunday persons boarding a trolley or bus for the Aquarium have only to pay one fare and ask for a two-trip slip which will be exchanged at their destination for a special return ticket. The Park Board has agreed to keep the aquarium open later than usual, closing that day shortly before 7 P. M., and the fish will be allowed to sleep overtime Monday morning.

If the one-day excursion is popular the Transit Company expects to arrange similar visits to points of interest in Baltimore on succeeding Sundays.

GREENSTEIN ASKED TO AID CALIFORNIA

Invitation To Help Organize Welfare Department Extended

Social Agencies Executive Gives Credit To Setup In Maryland

Harry Greenstein, president of the Baltimore Council of Social Agencies and an active welfare worker, has been asked by the State of California to help organize its departments of welfare and relief it was learned yesterday.

The invitation was extended through the Public Administration Service, a non-profit Chicago organization, that assists in setting up and maintaining welfare and administrative organizations.

Credits State Setup

In confirming the invitation last night, Mr. Greenstein, who as State Relief Administrator from 1933-36 aided in revamping Maryland's Department of Public Welfare, said the offer was more a tacit approval of the general setup in this State than a personal credit to himself.

Blakeman Is Invited

"No decent citizen could do more than help the head of his government, faced as he is with matters of serious import."

Governor Nice has asked William H. Blakeman, his budget director and his chief adviser on State finance, to attend the meeting, which will take place in the Union Trust Building.

Mr. Blakeman has been in ill health for some time, and may not be able to attend, but the Governor said he had been assured Mr. Blakeman would make every effort to be there.

The budget director already has written Mr. O'Conor his views on a number of questions of Maryland finance.

Rift In G. O. P.

Meanwhile yesterday, the G. O. P. State administration—not the Governor in person—was reported to have taken official cognizance of certain Republican insurrectionists who have allegedly been claiming they, and not Governor Nice's group, will have the final say as to what minority appointments will be made by the new Governor.

In particular, the Administration is reported to be angered at George R. Norris, of Dundalk, who was named by Governor Nice to the State Racing Commission but who of late has been prominent in the ranks of those who opposed the Governor's control of the party.

Mr. Norris, these spokesmen said, won't have anything to do with the minority appointments, and they claim they have it on the best authority.

"It's laughable and it's untrue," they said.

Dear Ms Read:

Your letter of October 18 to the Anne Arundel Historical Society was given to me a few days ago. Staff at the Historical/Genealogical library had checked obituary files and cemetery records for references to your Brockman names. The enclosed reference to BerthaBrockman is the only information they found.

I attempted to locate your Brockmans in the death certificates at the Maryland State Archives. Unfortunately, I was not particularly successful, either. A listing of the information I found, and copies of some death certificates will give you some idea of the extent of our efforts.

As you will see, I looked at records earlier than 1930 when I failed to find data for that time period. You may want to check 1920 Census information for family location.

Our efforts far exceed our usual $5.00 performance, but it took us an excessively long time to do it! I apologize for that, and I regret that we could not come up with better results.

Very truly yours,

Betty deKeyser

Dear Ms. Read:

With reference to your letter of September 30, 1992, we regret that we were unable to find any obituary notices for Sophia (Mary) Brockman or Henry Frederick Brockman in our obituary files, which consist of Baltimore Sun obituaries only. However, if you feel they may have died as residents of Baltimore City, you might try writing to Baltimore Records Center,City Archives, RM 201, 211 Pleasant Street, Baltimore, Md.21202, who may have copies of death certificates.

If they are unable to be of assistance, possibly they did not die in Baltimore City, but in the County, you might try the Baltimore County Court House, Towson, Md. 21204.

One other alternative, if they expired in Anne Arundel County, is to try the Anne Arundel County Historical Society, 7 Crain Highway, S.E. Glen Burnie, Md. 21061. or Annapolis and Anne Arundel County Public Library, 1410 W Street, Annapolis, Md. 21401. Also, the Enoch Pratt Main Library has some obituaries for newspapers other than the Sunpaper. Their address if 400 Cathedral Street, Baltimore Md 21201 Hopefully, one of these agencies will be able to assist you.

Very truly yours,

Helen Hunt Read
5711 Vail Avenue
Toledo, Ohio 43623

Dear Helen,

I have enclosed a family group sheet for my husbands grandparents Fridrich & Auna (KOVACH) Reining.

My husband tells me that they never talked much about the family left behind nor of the "old country". Passenger lists name brother-in-law Peter Schott of Kenmore Ohio as final destination. My mother-in-law remembers the Schott family but was never aware they were related. Grandpa and Grandma came to Akron in February, 1910 and are listed in the 1910 census with the Schott family. They applied for citizenship in the 1930's and all the towns listed are named in Yugoslavia. As Yugoslavia didn't exsist when they were born or married, I am having a hard time trying to locate the correct areas.

You are right. This is a rough line. However, since there are so few Reining families, I believe they are all linked to a common ancestor. My son spent some time in Germany last year and came across a Reining brewery. He couldn't learn anything about the family, but its a possibility.

Sorry I couldn't be of help at this time but I will keep your information on file for future reference and hope you will do the same.

Sincerely,

Barbara

Rift In G. O. P.

Meanwhile yesterday, the G. O. P. State administration—not the Governor in person—was reported to have taken official cognizance of certain Republican insurrectionists who have allegedly been claiming they, and not Governor Nice's group, will have the final say as to what minority appointments will be made by the new Governor.

In particular, the Administration is reported to be angered at George R. Norris, of Dundalk, who was named by Governor Nice to the State Racing Commission but who of late has been prominent in the ranks of those who opposed the Governor's control of the party.

Mr. Norris, these spokesmen said, won't have anything to do with the minority appointments, and they claim they have it on the best authority.

"It's laughable and it's untrue," they said.

Dear Ms. Read:

Thank you for your request for copies of marriage licenses. Your request was forwarded to us from the Baltimore City Circuit Court.

The older records of Baltimore City are maintained here at the Maryland State Archives.

There are no marriage certificates for Maryland before the year 1915. We have marriage license records. A marriage license record usually consists of a single-line entry in a marriage license record book. The entry usually contains the names of the couple, the date the license was issued and occasionally the name of the minister. This record does not include the names of parents or witnesses.

We can search appropriate indexes for the information you requested for a $20.00 search fee. We will undertake a search if you can provide four pieces of information: full name of the individual, county of residence, type of record and approximate date. We will advise you of the results of our search and the cost of copies.

Please note that our searches are limited to checking existing indexes for full names. We do not search for surnames only, nor do we link names to create family trees. If you require a surname search, the creation of a family tree, or more extensive research please plan to visit us or see the enclosed list of private genealogists and researchers.

Please note that because of the large volume of mail research requests we receive it may require four to six weeks for us to respond to your request.

Your check/money order is returned with this letter.

Sincerely yours,

Richard H. Richardson
Archivist IV

Enclosure(s)

West Prussia

This province consisted of the eastern parts of historical Pomerania and some other regions acquired from the Teutonic Order by the Polish Kings in the 15th century. Due to this, the historical name of the region was Royal Prussia. The territory which remained under the rule of the Order was then called Ducal Prussia and later became the province of East Prussia. In 1657 Poland lost the northwestern fragments of Royal Prussia which were taken by Brandenburg (marked in blue on the map) and later bacame part of Pomerania. The province of Royal Prussia was mostly inhabited by Catholics of Polish (or Cashubian) ethnicity and a significant German (partially Lutheran) minority, which was predominant particularly in the cities, as Gdansk (German: Danzig) and Torun (Thorn).

In 1772, as a result of the first Partition of Poland, the whole of Royal Prussia was annexed by Prussia and renamed West Prussia. In 1815 the region of Warmia (German: Ermland), shown in yellow-grey, was included in the province of East Prussia, whereas the area around Kwidzyn (German: Marienwerder), shown in green, formerly in the Ducal Prussia became part of West Prussia. At the beginning of the 20th century, the German-speaking inhabitants were about 50% of the total. The other half spoke Polish (mostly the Cashubian dialect).

After WWI, the major part of West Prussia became part of independent Poland. The city of Gdansk (Danzig) with a small surrounding area became a Free City (marked in yellow), independent of Poland and Germany. Two westernmost districts remained in Germany as part of a new province, Grenzmark Posen-Westpreussen (marked in brown). The areas of the former West Prussia east from the Vistula River (shown in green and pink) also remained German and were incorporated into East Prussia.

After the Second World War, all the territory of the former West Prussia became part of Poland. The German inhabitants either escaped or were expelled and were replaced by Polish refugees from Belarus, Lithuania and/or Ukraine.

The map below shows the territory of West Prussia at the beginning of the 20th century. The colored regions are explained above. The pink line is the post-WWII border between Poland and Russia. Polish and German names of cities are provided.

A brief history of Poland in the last 200 years

Some details pertaining to the history of particular provinces are accessible by clicking on their names

The map of Central Europe in 1772. The Kingdom of Poland is marked in white; Russia - in green, Austria - in yellow and Prussia - in blue. Present-day political boundaries are shown as red lines. Present names of cities are also given.

During the second half of the 18th century the Kingdom of Poland was a country which differed from present-day Poland in many important ways. Its territory included all of what we now call Lithuania, Belarus and half of contemporary Ukraine. On the other hand, nearly half of the contemporary area of Poland then belonged to Prussia (or, less precisely - to Germany). From time immemorial all those territories had been inhabited by diverse peoples of several religions. The western and central regions of the Kingdom were inhabited mostly by Catholics of Polish ethnic background (or Kashubian in the North). Catholic Poles and Lithuanians lived in its north-eastern section, which is now the Republic of Lithuania. The eastern regions were inhabited by Byzantine Catholics of Ruthenian (which is now Belarussian and Ukrainian) background and a small but important Catholic Polish minority. All parts of the Polish Kingdom were also inhabited by Jews (about 10% of the whole population) who lived mostly in towns. Also other ethnic groups, e.g. Germans, Armenians, Tartars, Scots, Dutchmen, etc. were represented. The Prussian provinces of Pomerania, Silesia and East Prussia which now belong to Poland also had a considerable Polish minority, although the majority was of German ethnic background. Pomerania and East Prussia were traditionally Lutheran, whereas most of the Silesian people belonged to the Roman Catholic Church.

Between 1772 and 1795 the entire territory of the Kingdom of Poland was divided between Prussia, Austria and Russia. During those so-called Partitions of Poland, Prussia acquired the western regions of Poland especially those, which were later renamed to West Prussia (formerly Royal Prussia) and Province of Posen (the area around Poznan, called Wielkopolska, i.e. Greater Poland). The southern Polish territories around Kraków and Lwów were incorporated into the Austrian Empire and renamed "Galicia". The central and eastern provinces of Poland were taken over by the Russian Empire. Only during a short period when Napoleon Bonaparte conquered Central Europe, he restored Poland as a Duchy of Warsaw, dependent on himself, consisting of the territories Prussia and Austria had annexed in 1793-95.

After Napoleon's fall, the situation was finally resolved in 1815. The victorious Russia took control over most of the Duchy of Warsaw. The Tzars gave it relatively much autonomy and created the new Kingdom of Poland there (but dependent on Russia) whereas the former eastern parts of Poland were directly incorporated into the Empire (and the populace of the Byzantine Catholics living there was forced to "convert" to Eastern Orthodox). The boundaried fixed in 1815 were stable during the next century but many other things changed. The 19th century was the time of industrial development and massive migrations. The Polish provinces under Prussian government were slowly germanized as more and more Germans settled there. Several attempts to regain independence were made by Poles, but all the uprisings against Russia, Prussia and Austria were bloodily suppressed. That was one of the reasons why in the last three decades of the 19th century more than a million people emmigrated from Poland to North America.

The First World War was a catastophe for all the Empires that had once divided Poland. An independent Republic of Poland was restored. Most of the 19th century Kingdom of Poland, the whole Galicia and most of the former Prussian provinces of West Prussia and Posen together with some areas of present-day Belarus, Lithuania and Ukraine constituted Poland between the Wars. Most German inhabitants of the former Prussian provinces emigrated to Germany.

As the Second World War began, Poland was attacked by Nazi Germany and the Soviet Union. Both totalitarian countries divided Poland and began to persecute her people. The Nazis murdered about 90% of the Polish Jews and hundreds of thousands of Poles. The Soviets also murdered a comparable number of Poles or sent them to concentration camps. After this horrible period was over and World War II had ended, new boundaries were designed for Central Europe by Stalin, Churchill and Roosevelt at Yalta. Poland lost a third of its pre-WWII area which was taken over by the Soviets. As a "compensation", the allied powers handed over to Poland a large part of Germany east of the Oder and Neisse rivers. Nearly the entire population of those provinces was expelled to Germany and the territory was settled by Polish refugees from the East, who wanted to avoid Soviet rule. Also hundreds of thousands of Ukrainians were forced to leave Poland to settle in the Soviet Union. Most of the Jews who survived the Holocaust emigrated to Israel or to the USA.

Because of those migrations, contemporary Poland has practically no population of ethnic minorities - about 5% in total. Except for a few hundred thousand of Germans in Silesia and comparable numbers of Belarussians (in the Easternmost regions) and Ukrainians, all other minorities do not exceed 100,000 people.This is a situation completely different from that throughout the whole of Polish history.

ROAD COMPANY'S ESTIMATE OF LOSS

...W YORK, June 25.—The Norfolk & ...rn offices in this city have re...

Mrs. Helen Trudeau has suffered a relapse and is again confined to her bed with inflammatory rheumatism.

Mrs. Ellsworth of Bowling Green was the guest of Mrs. Barrows, Friday.

Mrs. E. A. Stephen of Millard avenue had for her guests Thursday Mrs. E. A. Blitz and daughter Mame from the west side.

Master Luther Miller of Millard avenue is spending a few days at Mominee Town.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Daley returned Sunday from their wedding tour to Prairie Depot. They will make their home for the present with Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, on Clarence avenue.

Mrs. Aaron Smith returned to Luckey, O., Monday, after a ten days' visit with her son, Mr. Sydney Smith of Clarence avenue. Miss Alva Smith accompanied her grandmother. She will remain in Luckey for a visit.

Mrs. Doyle and Mrs. Carroll spent Saturday with friends in the country.

Dr. and Mrs. Root spent Wednesday last, in Detroit.

The East End Gun Club will give a picnic and a tournament shoot Fourth of July for members and friends, at their club grounds on Taylor's farm.

Mr. Stephen of Millard, enjoyed a most pleasant surprise Saturday evening, while at the Casino with his wife and some friends. When the curtain went up for the first act, he recognized the head of the Hill family as Mr. Joe Tritch with whom he was engaged a few years ago in doing tumbling acts. Mr. Hill was then known as the Hill brothers. Mr. Hill is now an invalid and Mr. and Mrs. Tritch and little son are now on the road as the Hill family. Mr. Stephen was so excited that notwithstanding hundreds of eyes were brought to bear upon him, he shouted: "It is Joe Tritch, I am sure it is." An usher escorted him behind the scenes and there occurred a reunion such as occurs between brothers who have been long separated. After which the two families employed every moment until time for the Hill's to make their train, in talking over old times and regretting that accident had not thrown them together earlier in the week. Mr. Tritch was very urgent in his appeals for his old comrade to join him and it is not impossible that before many weeks have passed Mr. Stephen will join him.

Mr. and Mrs. Fazgerald and guest from the West Side spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Doyle.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Reining spent Sunday at Rossford.

Mr. Lewis Brissette is able to be out again.

Mr. Frank Vidal of Fort Wayne is the guest of his uncle, Mr. Hugh Doyle.

Mrs. Nelson of Garnet street is entertaining her daughter from out of the city.

Miss Jessie Doyle of Massilon street is suffering from the effects of stepping on a rusty nail.

Mrs. Sydney Johnson spent Monday at Rossford.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kreitzer have gone to Port Huron to attend the funeral of Mr. Kreitzer's mother.

Mr. Lewis Reining was home from Detroit over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman from North Toledo will occupy the residence on Clarence avenue belonging to Mrs. Summer.

Mr. C. E. Bingham spent Sunday in Lima.

Mr. John Doyle of Massilon street is on the sick list.

Mrs. J. Wilson spent Sunday and Monday in Rossford.

CASTORIA

...some heavy increases as the personal property returns anyhow. Those returns are put down by the assessors just as the personal property owners give them out and we can't rely on that, you know. The assessor isn't to be blamed, of course, for he only puts down valuations as they are given to him."

The board is now working on personal returns from the Seventh ward and it is said has already found instances where the returns will have to be raised considerably.

Most of the board's time this morning was taken up with the matter of the returns made on the Belvedere flats as made by the owner, Thomas Walbridge. Mr. Walbridge produced his contracts which showed that the flats had cost $37,392.

The assessor had returned the property as being worth $50,000, but admitted that he had made a mistake, as he thought the flats were of iron construction when as a matter of fact they are not. He is willing to change his figures.

Sixty per cent. of the valuation of the flats, then, as the board figured, would bring the taxable valuation down to $22,435. Mr. Walbridge wants the board to make it $20,000. The board, however, will wait till Auditor Godfrey returns from Columbus before taking any action, as it doesn't like to make a cut in the valuation without first consulting him.

The board's desire now is to have the assessor change his own figures, as that would take the responsibility off the board and would straighten out the tangle to the satisfaction of everybody concerned.

TREASURER GONE; NOTES MISSING

AKRON, O., June 25.—It is stated that notes amounting to $20,000, alleged to have been forged, have been discovered outstanding by officials of the Akron Varnish company.

J. H. McCrum, treasurer of the company is said to have been missing for a week.

Creditors of the company have begun action to have the company's property sold in settlement of debts.

FLOODS PUT MEN OUT OF WORK

ROANOKE, Va., June 25.—2:30 p. m.—The majority of men working in the Norfolk & Western shops here were laid off today at noon, in consequence of slack work occasioned by the floods in West Virginia. The machine, boiler, blacksmith and erecting shops are affected. The delay will last for the balance of this week.

The shops employ about 2,000 men here. It will be two weeks before all the telegraph lines are restored in the devastated district, as the entire plant is gone in some places for miles. Several hundred coils of wire will be needed and poles will have to be reset.

The lowest estimate of loss of life today is thirty, and the highest figure claimed is, as first stated, 200.

Dear Mrs. Read:

Enclosed are photocopies of the WESTPHALIA and a thumb-nail sketch of the ship.

If you wish to order this picture, please consult our information sheet which is enclosed. As it has its own negative, there is no extra charge of $6.00. The information sheet will give directions for size of picture, cost, and postage fees. Let me know if you have any questions.

There is a fee of $3.00 for the photocopies and research. I will enclose an invoice for it.

Thank you for the SASE.

Very sincerely,

BALTIMORE, MARYLAND 21201
(301) 659-3134

This is prepared to answer frequent inquiries from SSHSA members and others, about ordering pictures of their choice from the Photo Bank. The Photo Bank files now contain over 50,000 ship pictures. The sheer size of the collection makes it impossible to issue a complete catalog.

We will handle Photo Bank orders as follows:

1) Send us a list of ships of which you want pictures, alphabetically arranged. Make it on a separate sheet, not within the body of a letter. Identify each vessel as fully as possible; there are often several ships of the same name. Library personnel will search the files for all reasonable requests, but unduly long lists of requirements will be subject to a research fee (see below).

2) We will return your list, marked to show which ships are available, and price.

3) If satisfactory, send firm order and remittance (payable to University of Baltimore Educational Foundation). Allow three to four weeks for delivery. All prints are made to order. Sizes and prices are:

B&W PRINTS FROM EXISTING NEGATIVES

8x10	6.00

COPY NEGATIVES

Copying from positive originals entails an additional charge of $6.00 for each copy negative required. The negative will be retained by the SSHSA Collection.

POSTAGE AND HANDLING FEES

Number of prints	First Class Domestic	Air Mail Overseas
1 to 3	$1.00	$3.00
4 to 10	2.00	4.50
Each additional 5 prints (or fewer)	1.00

Sales at the above prices do not include reproduction rights. We will advise our terms for commercial usage on request.

Complete Photo Bank files may be inspected at the University of Baltimore Library, address above, during usual hours. We suggest that a definite appointment be made in advance, so that a Library staff member familiar with the Photo Bank will be on hand to assist you.

XEROX COPYING

Xerox copying from books and pamphlets in the SSHSA Collection is done at 25¢ per page; minimum mail order $1.00; suggested maximum 20 pages; subject to copyright restrictions.

ADMINISTRATIVE AND RESEARCH FEES

Minimum of staff time	Discretion of staff
First half hour	$5.00
Thereafter	$10.00 per hour in one hour increments

Dear Sir:

I am working on my genealogy and my grandfather and his parents game to America from Schwerin(Mecklenburg).

I understand that you have census records there, and am inquiring as to the proper method and fees for searching for my ancestor.

This is the information that I have:

Johann Henrick Friedrick Reining
b. April 19, 1848
Dorothy Elizabeth (Schultz-Shuldy)Reining
b. Nov. 19, 1841

Their Children:
Hermen Fredrick Reining b. July 8, 1874
Peter - (may have been Mrs. Reining's by a previous marriage) b. 1864

They came to America when Hermen was 6 mos. old, making their departure either late 1874 or early 1875.

Any inf ormation that you may be able to give me will be greatly appreciated.

Most sincerely,

ENGINE TOOTS DISTURB SLEEP OF EAST SIDERS

Many East Side residents are complaining about engineers on the New York Central railroad, who, it is reported, blow engine whistles in the city limits. About six months ago complaints against the engineers led to several arrests.

"I swore out a warrant for one engineer at that time," said Dr. Clarence Ordway of the East Side hospital, on Friday, "and I'll do it again if that practice does not stop. Lately they have become more persistent."

PIONEER EAST SIDE MAN ANSWERS CALL

Henry Reining, 69, who died on Thursday in the home of his sister, Mrs. John Merren, 329 Clarence-av, will be buried on Monday afternoon in St. John's cemetery. Services will be held at 2:30 in St. John's Lutheran church.

Mr. Reining lived 41 years on the East Side. He worked for the Paragon Oil Co. 27 years. His wife died 14 years ago. The children left are Mrs. Oliver Gonia, Mrs. Harry Tingley, Louis and Peter Reining, Mrs. Merren and Herman Reining of Owosso, Mich.

SPARKS SET FIRE TO RAILROAD SHEDS

Three small fires broke out on the East Side on Thursday evening. A row of unoccupied sheds near Main-st were destroyed.

Sparks from a chimney caused $5 damage to the home of W. J. Dixon of 2642 Front-st. A sand shed at the C., H. & D. roundhouse at Oakdale-av and Miami-st was slightly damaged when shavings caught fire.

MISS COOPER MARRIES

Miss Goldie Mae Cooper of 958 Front-st and Frank Schardt of Pinewood-av were married in Sacred Heart church by the Rev. J. H. Keller on Thursday. Miss Helen Hildreth of Cleveland was bridemaid. After the wedding breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Schardt left on an eastern trip. They will reside on Pinewood-av.

There was a three-ring circus in a combined burlesque and musical comedy setting on the stage of the Valentine on Thursday evening. You had to be mighty alert to get everything that was provided by the large group of entertainers in "The Passing Show of 1916."

Performers came so thick and fast, settings changed so rapidly, girls and girls and girls came on and disappeared with such regularity, different melodies were dovetailed into one another so completely, so many varieties of dancing were shown and so much comedy was pushed forward, that one was bewildered.

DON'T TURN.

If you turned to look at your program you missed something. It was up to you to keep looking and to keep listening, for there were no encores and the show was rushed thru on high speed.

The entertainment didn't begin until 8:45 owing to the difficulty in handling the scenic equipment. And it wasn't over until 11:30. There was something doing every second.

You got the big ballyhoo, much noise, biff-bang-smash music, graceful dancing, knockabout dancing, drag-out dancing and the common or garden variety of hoofing.

SAME OLD RUNWAY.

As usual, they showed the runway over which scared maids with strained and frightened expressions on their faces cautiously picked their hazardous way.

Ed Wynn, major comedian, furnished many laughs thruout, but the big guffaw was developed by Mack and Philbrick in a blackface turn. And Belle Ashlyn also made the folks grin.

Herman Timberg, Elida Morris, the Ford sisters and James Clemons provided the customary dances. Ma-Belle did the artistic stepping. Stella Hoban was the principal singer.

KNEES IN EVIDENCE.

Before we say that the show is to remain here thru Sunday night, we might remark offhand that the knee record for a Toledo stage was broken in this entertainment on Thursday night. In her dance costumes Ma-Belle left little to the imagination.

Zapel, 30. November 74

Dear Mrs. David Read!
Today it is possible to reply to your questions in genealogical matter. I'm very glad I can help you a little in this matter. But I am sorry I could not effect more this time.

To 6. Hermen Frederick Christian Reising
b. 8. July 1874
christening 19. July 1874 godfathers: 1. Frederick Köster shepherd in Alt-Buckow
2. Frederick Gratop worker in Alt-Buckow
3. godmother: Luise Beatz maid in Peptow his father (12) John Henry Frederick Reising, mason in Bantow born 19. April 1848 in Caminshof christening 21. April 1848

godfathers: 1. John Schult, carpenter in Caminshof
2. Henry Camin, son of a peasant in Caminshof godmother: 3. Friederike Camin wife of a peasant married 28. February 1872, dispensed from banns on February 20.

to 13: Elizabeth Dorothy Christiane Schult born 20. November 1841 in Questin, daughter of a worker

Father of 12: Joachim Frederick Reising, mason in Caminshof
Mother : Anna Maria Vick

Father of 13: John Frederick Schult, worker in AltBackow, first marriage with Maria Dorothea Bliewernicht out of Banow, (I could not find when she died) Mother: second marriage with Margaretha Dorothea Voigt, she is the mother of Elisabeth Dorothea Christiane Schult, born 20. November 1841 (I could not find, when they married)

Then I was glad to find one brother of John Henry Frederick Reining, it is: John Joachim Christian Reining born 1. June 1845 in Alt-Backow and one sister: Christine Wilhelmine Anna Reining, born 7. November 1851 in Camitzhof

That's all for today! I hope I can help you with these informations. May I ask you to send regards to Dick Schroeder!
I might wish you a happy Christmas.
With best wishes for you yours
Erich Schröder

PARADE POSTS—With a lift from mom and dad, these two high riders had unobstructed views Wednesday night as the Veterans Day parade wound through downtown Toledo. They're Debbie, 3, and Kim, 1, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Reining. The parade, which began at 7:30 p.m., included beauty queens, color guards, bands, twirlers, and marching units from almost 100 organizations. It was easy enough to fascinate any little girl, and a good excuse for staying up past bedtime, too.

Barrigar, June Arlene, James Township.

Passed away Friday, May 20, 1994, at Saginaw General Hospital. Age 70 years. The former June Krieger was born June 29, 1923, in Toledo, Ohio. She and her husband, Robert, were founding members of Community Baptist Church of Shields, and she was a faithful worker and Sunday School teacher for over 35 years. Surviving are three sons and three daughters, Robert, Glenn and Timothy Barrigar, Susan Krupnek, Colleen Hawes, all of Saginaw; and Kathleen Omans, St. Louis; 22 grandchildren; three brothers, Clarence, George, and Robert Krieger; many nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by her husband, Robert A. Barrigar, in 1983, and by her brother, Donald Krieger.

Funeral service will take place at 1:00 p.m. Monday at the Community Baptist Church of Shields. Rev. Douglas R. Jackson will officiate with burial in Roselawn Memorial Gardens. Friends may call at The W.L. Case & Co. Funeral Chapel, 201 N. Miller Road, on Saturday from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m., on Sunday from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. and 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. and on Monday at the church from 12:00 until the time of funeral service. Those planning an expression of sympathy may wish to consider the Community Baptist Church, June Barrigar Memorial Fund.

In Remembrance

The Twenty-Third Psalm

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:
He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil:
for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies:
thou anointest my head with oil;
my cup runneth over.
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life:
and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

Chronicle of Mecklenburg Chronicle of Vorpommern

History of Mecklenburg

Mecklenburg derives its name from the Slavic castle "Mechelenburg". The castle stands between the two cities Schwerin and Wismar and was first documented by the emperor Otto III. in 995.
Germanic tribes established settlements in this region up to the year 500. Around the year 600, the Germanic tribes had left the region and Slavic tribes such as the Obotrite and the Lutician founded new settlements.
When Heinrich der Loewe (Henry the Lion) defeated the Obotrites, he began the Christianisation of Mecklenburg.
In 1348 the emperor Karl IV. conferred the title Duke on every Count. The territory was then divided in 1621 into two different duchies, Mecklenburg-Schwerin and Mecklenburg-Guestrow.
The Westfalian peace contract from 1648 regulated that Wismar came under the power of Sweden. The Guestrow lineage died out in 1695. Two new duchies were founded as a result of the treaty of Hamburg in 1701, Mecklenburg-Schwerin and Mecklenburg-Strelitz.
In 1803 Wismar was returned to Mecklenburg. Both of the duchies joined the Rhine Federation in 1808.
At the congress in Vienna the two duchies of Mecklenburg received the title grand duchy.
The Civil Revolution ended in 1849 and the first state constitution was introduced. But it was revoked in 1850 and the old ordinance was re-established. Mecklenburg became part of the German Empire in 1871.
The November Revolution finally repealed the medieval ordinance. In 1933 independent Mecklenburg-Schwerin and Mecklenburg-Strelitz were united to the province of Mecklenburg. Schwerin was pronounced capital of the province.
After WW II in 1945 Mecklenburg was part of the Soviet occupied zone. It was named Mecklenburg-Vorpommern, but since 1947 it was simply known under Mecklenburg. East Germany politically restructured the country in 1952 and Mecklenburg was divided into districts of Rostock, Schwerin, and Neubrandenburg. Since 1990, the province is officially called Mecklenburg-Vorpommern again.
Schwerin is the capital.

CHRISTENING RECORDS: Children were usually baptized within a few days of birth. The pastor recorded the date, the child's name, the names of the parents, and the names of the godparents. Later records show the birthdate as well as the christening date. Prior to the late 1700s, many pastors did not record the name of the mother.

MARRIAGE RECORDS: The marriage usually took place in the home parish of the bride. The pastor recorded the names of bride and groom, whether each was single or widowed, and the date of the marriage. The earliest marriage records give little information about the parents of the couple. In most cases, until the beginning of the 1800s, marriage registers recorded only the names of the bride's parents. In Mecklenburg-Strelitz the names of the groom's parents began to be recorded after 1810. This practice was introduced in Mecklenburg-Schwerin sometime after 1820. The birthdates of the bride and groom began to be entered in marriage registers during the 1800s. Some marriage registers even give the birthplaces of the bride and groom.

DEATH RECORDS: Deceased persons were usually buried within a few days of their death. The pastor recorded the name of the deceased, the burial date, and death date. Early death registers did not record the place of birth and age of the deceased, but later records usually did. Death records from the 1800s often give the cause of death and even the name of the spouse or other survivors.

ILLEGITIMATE BIRTHS: Originally, when a child was born in Mecklenburg out of wedlock, he would receive the surname of the father if the father was known. In Mecklenburg-Schwerin after 1838, by law, an illegitimate child received the surname of the mother if the birth was not followed by the marriage of the parents. The name of the child was recorded as "angeblich" (alleged) in the church books, if relying on the mother's word. Even if the parents eventually married, the child would still be listed with the mother's surname in most cases because the pastor usually did not go back and change the birth record. In general, the name of the father was recorded up to the year 1860 after which the practice gradually came to a stop.

Where is Mecklenburg Vorpommern? Mecklenburg-West Pomerania is a state in northeastern Germany, bounded on the north by the Baltic Sea, on the west by Schleswig Holstein, on the southwest by Lower Saxony, on the south by Brandenburg, and on the east by Poland. Teutonic peoples inhabited the area in the first centuries of the Christian era, but early in the 6th century it was seized by various Slavic tribes.

The Mecklenburg region was conquered by Henry the Lion in the latter half of the 12th century. In 1348 it was elevated to a duchy. The duchy was subdivided in 1621 into the duchies of Mecklenburg Schwerin and Mecklenburg Strelitz, both of which were elevated to grand duchies in 1815. They joined the German Empire in 1871 and, after World War I, were made states of the new German Republic. In 1934 they were united into the single state of Mecklenburg. After World War II, Mecklenburg became part of the Soviet Zone.

REASONS FOR EMIGRATION

Edited by Carol Gohsman Bowen

ONE OUT OF THREE MECKLENBURGERS LEFT HIS COUNTRY

In the middle of the past century Mecklenburg was one of the areas in Europe that was most affected by the emigration movement. Mass emigration is a sign of severe social crisis in any country. What reasons did so many people have to leave their country and hope for a better life abroad in the 19th century?

The emigration wave was not limited to Mecklenburg alone. It also covered all other parts of the fragmented German Empire. In all, several million people emigrated from Germany. The emigration movement spread to other European countries as well, but Mecklenburg was especially hard hit. In fact, after 1850, Mecklenburg had the third highest emigration count in Europe, superceded only by Ireland and Galicia (land which is currently Poland and the Ukraine).

"And why have you left Germany?" asked Heinrich Heine in 1834, when he met some German emigrants in France on their way to North Africa. "The land is good, and we would have liked to stay", they replied, "but we just couldn't stand it any longer."

If asked that same question, many of the 261,000 Mecklenburgers that left their home country (the Grand duchies of Mecklenburg-Schwerin and Mecklenburg-Strelitz) between 1820 and 1890 would have given the same answer. Many people, especially those from the lower social classes, didn't have any prospects or future in Mecklenburg, since their lives were totally uprooted by the change from feudal rule to a civil-capitalist one.

Between 1850 and 1890 approximately 146,000 Mecklenburgers emigrated overseas, most going to the United States of America, but some also going to South America. Between 1820 and 1890 those going overseas accounted for two thirds of all the emigrants from Mecklenburg. The defeat of the civil-democratic revolution in 1848/49 and the return of the old social and political problems gave fresh impetus to this emigration movement.

This loss of population was most prevalent from the so-called flat or farm land. 88.5 % of all emigrants came from rural areas. Most of them came from the lands of the knights, from the manor houses of noble and titled big land-owners. These were the people who had the most compelling reasons for leaving Mecklenburg. This was mostly due to the miserable social conditions caused by the right of abode and the right of establishment rules which existed almost unchanged between 1820 and 1860.

These conditions came about when serfdom was annulled in Mecklenburg in 1820/21. At that time, many landowners took the opportunity to get rid of a lot of their day laborers who were now considered personally free according to the law. They began to run their lands with a minimum of permanent workers. The landowners did this so that they would not have to pay for any laborers who were injured or take care of them when they grew old. It was very difficult for day-laborers who were thrown out to find permanent work elsewhere because they needed to receive the right of establishment from the new employer. But that wasn't easy to get.

In 1861, an expert on Mecklenburg history, Ernst Boll, explained the right of abode and right of establishment in his Abriss der Mecklenburgischen Landeskunde this way: "a Mecklenburger does not belong to the country as a whole as far as his home is concerned. Rather, he belongs to the one city or village that he happens to be born in, or to the city or village where he has received the right of establishment."

The granting of the right to marry also depended on the granting of the right of establishment. and all subjects needed permission to marry before they could have a family. A man or woman who did not have the right of establishment could never establish a home. Therefore, the main problem for a common Mecklenburger was to get his own "Hüsung", but many did not succeed. A lot of people that worked as needed paid laborers were refused the right of establishment by the ruling class for their whole lives. They were given only a limited right to residence - only for as long as they had work. These were the inhumane conditions that existed. Mecklenburgers could become homeless in their own country.

Therefore it is no surprise that tens of thousands decided to emigrate rather than walking around homeless. In fact, the knights and landowners encouraged emigration at times. The loss of population in rural areas grew larger and larger. While there still was a population growth of 55,000 people between 1830 and 1850 despite the emigration, new births could not make up for the high number of emigrants between 1850 and 1905. The rural population dropped by 25,000.

After the German Empire was founded in 1871, industrialization spread and some cities expanded rapidly. The number of people that emigrated overseas decreased, and internal migration increased. More people that were willing to emigrate went to cities and industrial towns outside of Mecklenburg, such as the areas of Berlin and Hamburg rather than to America.

In 1900 approximately 224,692 people who were Mecklenburgers by birth lived outside of their home country. That was almost one third of the Mecklenburg total population. On December 1, 1900 there were 53,902 emigrants from Mecklenburg-Schwerin living in Hamburg-Altona.

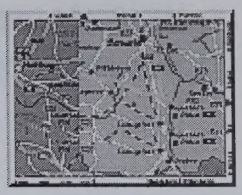
City of Bad Doberan



Tourist-Information Bad Doberan - Heiligendamm more information about Bad Doberan and Heiligendamm

The idyllic small town of Bad Doberan is only a few kilometer from the Baltic Coast. Its name originally derived from the founding of the Cistercian monastery near Althof, first mentioned in records in 1171. After the Althof monastery was destroyed, the Doberan monastery was built on the present site. The town enjoyed a significant increase in popularity after Duke Friedrich Franz I. of Mecklenburg adopted it as his summer residence. The first German seaside resort, Heiligendamm, was founded outside the town gates in 1793 and the first German horse racetrack was established there in 1822.
The town center is characterized by many Gothic and Classicist buildings; visitors from all over the world come here to see the former monastery churches, such as the Doberan Minster which is one of the most impressive examples of North German brick architecture. Another tourist attraction is the ride on the "Molli" narrow gauge railway from Bad Doberan through Heiligendamm to the Baltic resort of Kuehlungsborn.

The community of Bad Doberan, with the first German seaside resort of Heiligendamm, is 15 kilometers to the west of the Hanse city Rostock and is a town with important sights which reflect the alternating history of Gothic and Classicism.
The Doberan Minster certainly deserves the title "pearl of the North German Brick Gothic".
A ride on the Molli narrow gauge railway through the town of Bad Doberan allows a glimpse into the past of the steam locomotives. Half way between Bad Doberan and the seaside resort of Heiligendamm, located on the most beautiful and oldest lime tree alley in Germany, is the first horse racetrack of Germany.
In 1873, the duke of Mecklenburg, Friedrich Franz I founded the first German seaside spa in Heiligendamm. The natural healing powers, the ocean, the ocean breeze and the peat bog, along with the 200 year tradition, tremendously enhanced the popularity of the first German seaside resort of Heiligendamm and the health spa of Bad Doberan across the region.
Bad Doberan - Heiligendamm is easy to reach with public transportation. Warnemuende and the Hanse cities of Wismar, Rostock and Stralsund are all in the vicinity.
The area offers cristal clear water, forests, and inspiring scenery. There are excellent conditions to discover the area on foot, on horseback or on a bicycle.

The States of Germany

Greetings! Thank-you for stopping for a minute to read this. The Germany Genealogy Page has been modified, so that there is now a volunteer for some of the present states. This was done to simplify the editing of the Surname and Query file entry lists, and to more easily organize information by location. This is especially helpful for people researching common surnames like SCHMIDT. They would rather find Schmidts in the area that their Schmidts came from, than somewhere else.

This means you need to understand how the German State system works. The list of the states on the main page represent the names of the present states since 1991 when Germany was reunified. Post WWII States Between 1945-1991, the German nations were the Bundesrepublik Deutschland (West Germany) and the Deutsche Demokratische Republik (East Germany). West Germany consisted of these Bundesländer (states) : Baden-Württemberg, Bayern, Bremen, Hamburg, Hessen, Niedersachsen, Nordrhein-Westfalen, Rheinland-Pfalz, Saarland, Schleswig-Holstein and West Berlin. East Germany had no Bundesländer during this time, but was divided in to Bezirke, or districts named for the city which adminstered the area. They were: Rostock, Schwerin, Neubrandenburg, Magdeburg, Potsdam, Berlin, Frankfurt-an-der-Oder, Halle, Leipzig, Cottbus, Dresden, Karl-Marx-Stadt, Gera, and Suhl. (Thanks Andre Schmidt for pointing this out to me!)

Names of Pre WWII Lands

Between 1918-1933, the Weimar Repubic, Gemany consisted of these lands: Anhalt, Baden, Bayern, Brandenburg, Braunschweig, Hannover, Hessen, Hohenzollern, Lippe, Mecklenburg-Schwerin, Mecklenburg-Strelitz, Nassau, Oldenburg, Ostpreussen, Pfalz, Pommern, Rheinland, Saar, Sachsen, Schlesien, Schleswig-Holstein, Thüringen, Westfalen, Westpreussen, and Wurttemberg.

Previous to this time, these areas were more or less the same. Remember, this is a gross generalization. Some territories were aquired and/or lost, some borders changed, names changed or altered, but their geographic area remained much the same.

Where they are Today?

Today, most of Ostpreussen (East Prussia), Pommern, Schlesien (Silesia), Westpreussen (West Prussia and Posen, are in Poland. If your research includes these areas, you should submit your sunames and queries on the Poland GenWeb Page. Elsass-Lothringen is a part of France, known as Alsace-Lorraine, and you should submit your surnames and queries on the France GenWeb Page. All other former areas are incorporated into the modern Bundesländer (states).

Things that may mislead you

There are two major things about German research which could mislead you when trying to determine your ancestor's place of origin.

1. HAMBURG and BREMEN. These two cities are today, and in the past have often been provinces or states in their own right. Bremen is closely associated with it's port city, BREMERHAVEN. The vast majority of German migrants left Germany from one of these two cities. Before submitting information about your ancestors with Hamburg or Bremen as a place of origin, please try to determine as best you can, that one of these cities is the place of origin, and not simply the point of departure.

2. SAXONY. There are three different states in Germany with the word Saxony in their name. The German word is SACHSEN. These areas are: NIEDERSACHSEN, SACHSEN, and SACHSEN-ANHALT. Please be sure that you are choosing the CORRECT Saxony. If you are not sure which one you want, look at a good atlas, or at the map I have provided on the main page (click on Bundesländer).

And last: If you come across the city Frankfurt, there are two: Frankfurt am Main in Hessen and Frankfurt-an-der-Oder in Brandenburg on the Polish border.

The Point of Reading this Page

The point is, as I said at the top, the division of the Germany Genealogy page into the States is to make it easier for YOU to find information, and for me to maintain. This means we are asking you to do a little homework, which is worth your while.

If you know the name of the town where your ancestor originates, but you do not know in which Bundesland (state) the town lies in TODAY, the PLEASE use GEOserv to find it. It is simple and fast. Its database is most complete for former West German towns. The East German towns are being updated. It only covers towns and cities for East & West Germany. If it did not lie within the post 1945 boundaries of either Germany, it can not find it.

Please understand, I know that you may not know where they came from, or the town or village simply

The 20-year-old comp[illegible]s been listed with Oak Park Realty at $2.4 million since May 21.

"It's a sluggish economy. The vacancy rate in the last six months has been a little higher than normal. We feel that's because of some new competition in the area," Mr. Freeman said.

At the time of purchase, city officials paid $870,000 in cash for the complex and signed a mortgage with the former owner for the balance of the $2.9 million purchase price.

The next year, in January, 1988, the city issued a $719,690 note paying the money to the former owner and assumed an underlying $1.3 million mortgage on the property.

Since the purchase of the complex the city has paid $744,711 in interest on all the loans it has taken out on Garden Woods.

Since 1990, the city has lost $7,184 on the complex after interest payments and operating expenses are deducted from revenue from the property. Before then, the city did not separate the operations of the complex from the revenue and expenses generated from the rest of the Monclova land.

Toledo officials were originally blocked in their efforts to annex and develop the land they bought in Monclova Township by opposition from township and Maumee officials who fought the annexation bid to the Ohio Supreme Court.

City officials are now hoping that through cooperation with Toledo's suburban neighbors the land can be developed, even if it is not within city limits.

may be: Ho..enheim
: letter is unkown und is not repeted in the text
It may be the letters k.t,x,v;
Or the missing letter is a ensamble with the following letter

An other writing: Go..enheim; but very unlikely

2 is in the text an abbreviation. „Großh. Amt“ abbreviation

If this abbreviation means „Großherzogliches“ and if this is correct tow Grand Duchies in the last century can be considered: Baden and Hessen-Darmstadt.
In this areas (in the north of Karlsruhe und around Frankfurt) are a larg number of these villages with the ending „.....heim“

1) Ortsname: konnte nicht eindeutig geklärt werden

Vermutlich: Ho?enheim

└ fehlender Buchstabe kommt nicht im Text vor und ist als Schriftbild nicht bekannt.
Mögliche Buchstaben k, t, x, v;
oder bilden der fehlende Buchstabe mit den folgenden eine Einheit.

Weiter Lesart: Go?enheim; jedoch unwahrscheinlich.

2) stellt im Text eine Abkürzung dar.
Nach Text „Großh... Amt"
└ Abkürzung
Bedeutung der Abkürzung vermutlich „Großherzogliches"
Wenn dies zutrifft, dann kommen die Länder (Großherzogtümer im 19. Jahrhundert) Baden und ~~Hessendarmstadt~~ Hessen-Darmstadt in Betracht.
Dort (nördlich Karlsruhe, um Frankfurt) ist eine Häufung von ...heim-Orten anzutreffen.

Dear Mrs. Read,

Please excuse the late answering of your letter.
Enclose you will find the requested translation. It is the permission of Georg Walter`s home village and the petition to the Gand Duchy to emigrate.

My cousin who finished my family´s genealogial table and an old protestant priest made the translation from the old writing to modern German writing.
The translation from old German to old English made Mary Fischer, my husband Karl and I. It was very interesting. The only probleme is we couldn`t find out the village`s name.

I shall go to the Landesbibliothek where they store the countrie`s old documents.
May be they find out the strange letter in the village´s name.
So be a little be patient with me.

Sincerely,

Offterdinger

Those villagers who were without land became cottagers or gardeners. Eventually they were simply known as day laborers (Tageloehners) and lived in poverty. They were deprived almost entirely of their earnings and thereafter were forced to work for a starvation wage on the Junker estates. They traveled the countryside, moving from estate to estate as the land owner required their labor for plowing, planting or harvesting crops. The life they lived gave no possibility of resistance in an effort to better their condition.

Hey Helen!
Geburt nich im Kirchspiel Alt Bukow festgestellt ----Means as much as that the birth is not registered or found out in the " Kirchspiel"(I don't know that word, I would translate it with church game, but thats probably not what they mean) of the town Alt Burkow.
ermittelt---Means as much as to find out. In this case it means not yet found out.
The word ermitteln means more to search for something and than to find out.It's also what a cop has to find a person who did a crime.
The word festgestellt means more to recognize something and to find it out without really searching. Got the difference? Festgestellt, you can use it for many things. Here in America I have festgestellt, that I gain weight. That's just an example, but it's true. I love Mc Donalds...
I'm going to print the next letter out tomorrow in school and hope to help you with it too.
See ya, Anna

Schwerin, 16.Februar 1999

Ihre Vorfahren Reining im Kirchspiel Alt Bukow

Sehr geehrte Mrs. Hunt Read,

Ihr Forschungsantrag wurde uns zuständigkeitshalber vom Landeskirchlichen Archiv der Pommerschen Evangelischen Kirche zugesandt, da Ihre Vorfahren in Mecklenburg lebten, also nicht in Pommern.

Wir haben zunächst die Vorfahren Reining überprüft und senden Ihnen dazu in der beigefügten Zusammenstellung die bisher ermittelten Angaben.

Zur Überprüfung der Vorfahren Schult reichten nicht der beigefügte Scheck über 35 US-Dollars. Denn wir müssen für jeden Scheck an unsere Bank an Bankspesen 15,--DM bezahlen. Unsere Gebührenrechnung ersehen Sie bitte aus der Anlage. Auch für diese Forschung wurde weit mehr als eine Arbeitsstunde benötigt. Sie ist mit dem beigefügten Betrag nicht bezahlt. Sollten wir also für Sie noch weitere Nachforschungen betreiben sollen, so müßten Sie mindestens weitere 50-60 US-Dollars übersenden.

Mit freundlichen Grüßen

Piersig

Dear Mrs Hunt Read!

Your research assignment got sent to us by the Country Church Archieves of the Pommern Protestant Church because your ancestors lived in Mecklenburg and not in Pommern. We first checked the ancestors with the name Reining and in the attached survey we send the momentarly found out infomation.
To check the ancestors Schult the check of $35 was not enough because for every check we have to pay 15 DM (about 7.5 Us Dollar) bank expenses to our bank. You can find our charge bill in the document.
Also for the research we needed much more than one working hour. The working hour was not paid by the attached amount of money. If you want us to do some more researches for you you should send us about $50-60.
Sincerly yours
....., Churcharchievesadministrator

Hey Helen!
I hope I could help you with this. I hope you understand everything and are succesful in your researches. If you need my help again, just mail me, I don't charge 50-60 US Dollars.
Whar I didn't get yet-do you live in Prague?

Mecklenburg History

by Daniel Schlyter

The History

It is very important to understand the history of Mecklenburg and its record keeping in order to take the right steps in your research.

Mecklenburg was occupied in the sixth century by the Wends, a Slavic people. The Mecklenburg dynasty was established in the 1100s when the Wendish ruling family accepted Christianity and German domination.

1348	The Holy Roman Emperor Charles IV elevated the Mecklenburg princes to the position of dukes of the empire.
1419	A university was established in the city of Rostock.
1549	Mecklenburg accepted Protestantism. The Evangelical Church (Lutheran) became the state church.
1602	A proclamation was made requiring every parish in Mecklenburg to maintain registers of births and marriages.
1621	Mecklenburg was divided into two duchies, Mecklenburg-Schwerin and Mecklenburg-Güstrow.
1648	Sweden took over the district of Wismar.
1650	All parishes in Mecklenburg were required to maintain death registers.
1695	The Güstrow line died out and Mecklenburg was temporarily reunited.
1701	Mecklenburg was divided again, this time as Mecklenburg-Schwerin and Mecklenburg-Strelitz.
1786	The Evangelical Church of Mecklenburg-Schwerin introduced a uniform system for parish registers.
1803	Sweden returned the Lordship of Wismar to Mecklenburg.
1810	The Evangelical Church of Mecklenburg-Strelitz introduced a uniform system for parish registers similar to that in Mecklenburg-Schwerin.
1815	Both Mecklenburg-Schwerin and Mecklenburg-Strelitz were elevated to the status of grand-duchy.
1819	The population of Mecklenburg Schwerin was counted in a census.
1820	The peasants (serfs) were emancipated.
1860	The population of Mecklenburg was again counted in a census.
1867	Mecklenburg became part of the North German Confederation.
1871	Mecklenburg became part of the German Empire.
1876	Civil authorities in Mecklenburg began registering births, marriages, and deaths.
1918	The Grand Dukes of Mecklenburg-Schwerin and Mecklenburg-Strelitz were deposed.
1934	The two grand-duchies were united to create the state of Mecklenburg.

We had lunch at Reynolds Gardens today. Our friends Roxie and Howard came in. And then a little while later, Carolyn and Gene came in! Small world.

Didn't know you had a wheel chair.

Maybe we need to do a road trip sooner than later! My biopsy results were not good. Diagnosis: invasive ductal carcinoma (cancer). I'm still having a hard time believing it. I will be getting a breast MRI soon (not sure what the purpose is); and then next Wednesday afternoon we will meet with a nurse from the Breast Care Center who tells you about your options, etc. It's called Shared Decision Program. Then on Mon, Apr 20 I have an appointment with my surgeon. So I really don't know much else at this point.

PLACES OF THE PAST

Toledoans cherish the memory of favorite local institutions

Absence — particularly when it's irreversible — makes the heart wax nostalgic.

Toledoans have had an ample share of nostalgia-inspiring events with the closings of Thackeray's Books (22 years old) and Ottawa Lanes (46 years) earlier this month. As our fondest places do, these locally owned West Toledo enterprises created a pleasurable experience for patrons.

Boogie Records, with its owners/operators and friendly dog, closed in February, 2004, after 30 years.

And Rusty's Jazz Cafe, a frozen-in-time setting operated by Margaret "Rusty" Monroe, was shuttered a few years ago after four decades. The tucked-away South Toledo venue was cherished by fans and musicians alike.

In the increasingly homogenous United States, home-grown establishments build a sense of pride and identity.

"They're local, they're unique," said Fred Folger, a retired Washington Local teacher and history buff. "You feel at home or at ease when you go in a store and see the same people."

Such places tend to be convenient, familiar, and have a certain charm. Unlike much of impersonal corporate retail, they often keep staff for years and reflect the personality of their owners or managers.

When the lights are turned off at a favorite place, we are nudged, sometimes resentfully, to change our routine and adjust our attitude.

It may be a place that provides community glue — "where everybody knows your name" and neighbors strike up conversations. In 1999, South Toledoans bemoaned the closing of Lark's grocery store, a fixture on Glendale Avenue for more than 50 years.

But for people born before about 1950, far greater than the closing of any single entity was the gradual erosion of downtown Toledo as the region's retail and entertainment center. For three generations, a trip downtown on a streetcar or bus was an event.

"I don't suppose you would believe that there was a time when Toledoans got all dressed up to go downtown," said Seymour Rothman, who retired from The Blade in 1991 after 53 years as a writer and columnist. "Of course, that was a time when preparing meals, doing laundry, and keeping house was a full-time job, so that meant that getting away to go downtown was an event worthy of one's finest attire. And when one returned, the neighbors wanted to hear all about it."

Women wore hats and gloves. Men wore suits, ties, and hats, and children were dressed in their starched best. The streets bustled with paper boys crying "Extra! Extra!" and policemen blowing whistles as they controlled traffic with hand signals.

Artists created beautiful window displays, especially during the holidays, at Lamson's, LaSalle & Koch's, and the Lion Store, where youngsters could sit on one of two lion statues outside. Milner's had the first escalator in town (one-way, going up). People delighted in going through LaSalle's to the Spitzer Building's arcade, and out onto Madison Avenue without setting foot outdoors, Mr. Rothman said.

There were restaurants galore, including a five-decades-long institution known as Grace Smith's Cafeteria (cream pies and ham loaf with mustard sauce). There were movies and live shows at the Rivoli, Keiths, Royal, Hart, and Valentine theaters.

The grand Commodore Perry Hotel, built during roaring prosperity, opened in 1927. Many an elegant dance was held in its magnificent Crystal Ballroom. It had fine restaurants, a lower-level arcade, and a presidential suite, frequented by the world's wealthiest and most famous people.

After World War I, out-of-town corporations began making inroads. In the 1920s, Macy's bought a share in LaSalle & Koch's, Tiedtke's was purchased by the Kobackers of Columbus, Kroger and the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. (A&P), each purchased local grocery chains.

Mr. Folger, a popular speaker, has a slide show about historic Toledo. The two long-gone names he's sure will be mentioned are Tiedtke's and the Paramount Theater.

Tiedtke's (often called Ticktee's) was started by two siblings in the 1890s to supply sailors, and as a grocery. "The brothers wanted to make shopping an experience," said Mr. Folger. Women who took the streetcar downtown and placed an order would have it delivered the next day by horse and buggy.

The Kobackers continued to treat employees with respect and to present food in the most tantalizing ways. Coffee beans were roasted, popcorn was popped, and potato chips were deep fried. Tobaccos from around the world were displayed. A two-ton wheel of Wisconsin cheddar was required viewing at Christmas. Kids loved the fun-house mirrors. And an organist played pop tunes.

"It wasn't upscale at all, but it was unique," said Mr. Folger.

The Paramount Theater opened in 1929 as both movie house and performing theater. The largest and most ornate of the city's theaters, its lobby was a sweeping hall of mirrors. It had grand staircases, massive columns, and exquisite chandeliers. "You felt like you had entered a palace," he said. "It really dwarfed the other theaters."

Built to accommodate 3,400, it hosted the top shows and stars. But as people became increasingly tuned in to television, the cost of maintaining the huge, often-empty structure contributed to its demise, he said. It lasted only 36 years.

In the prosperous years following World War II, people began migrating to the edges of the city and the suburbs. Retail followed, with the construction of outdoor malls, including Miracle Mile, Westgate, Southland, Parkway Plaza, and Great Eastern, he said. Then came the large indoor malls.

At the same time, families acquired multiple cars and the acres of free parking that malls offered was downtown's final blow.

"Americans always want the newest, the best," he said.

Middle path for politically homeless

KATHLEEN PARKER

"Blessed are the peacemakers for they shall catch hell from both sides."

— Sign on the wall of Justice Department attorney Burke Marshall, 1964

IN TODAY'S food-fight environment, where extremes dominate debate and choice is defined by either-or, finding a comfortable place to land is increasingly difficult.

Like most people I know, I tend to run screaming from both ends of the spectrum. Too conservative for the left wing and too liberal for the right wing, I find myself scrambling for the center aisle.

Yet, people in the middle often are held in contempt as fence-straddlers.

Abortion provides a convenient if unpalatable example. I've written dozens of columns through the years, more or less urging a pro-life position — having a baby forces a review of one's assumptions — while clinging to a pro-choice conclusion. Abortion is a terrible thing, I say, the violent termination of a life and a decision many women (and men) regret with time and perspective.

Nevertheless, I can find no way to justify government-enforced maternity. Under penalty of what? By whom? Under what circumstances? The practical applications of the moral ideal become nightmarish as we extrapolate to the real. Thus, one might hope to seek compromise. Can't a female who's old enough to samba deduce that she's pregnant and decide within, oh, six to eight weeks? This is, after all, not a "Gee whiz, I dunno" question.

In the spirit of compromise, I also can argue passionately in favor of tougher education standards when it comes to abortion. If we can demonstrate how to use condoms to high school students, surely we can make vivid the pros and cons of abortion as birth control. In time, given what can't be ignored when abortion is studied up close, we'd accomplish the goal supported by most Americans and articulated by President Bill Clinton: to make abortion safe, legal, and rare.

My middle road, of course, makes me equally contemptible to those who dwell in the peripheries — both to the pro-lifers who view all abortion as murder, and to the slippery-slopers who consider objecting to "partial-birth abortion" tantamount to embracing the Vatican's view of The Pill. Caught between extremes of community morality and individual choice, people like me are adrift.

THE BLADE/TOM FISHER

Apparently, I'm not alone. Indeed, given current trends, we may declare that we have reached a perfect storm of political backlash.

Americans who cleave to neither extreme — some 50 percent of whom identify themselves as "moderate" — are fed up with the Ann Coulter/Michael Moore school of debate and are looking for someone to articulate a commonsense, middle path.

They may have found their voice in John P. Avlon, chief speechwriter for former New York Mayor Rudy Giuliani and a New York Sun columnist, whose 2004 book Independent Nation has just been released in paperback.

Mr. Avlon insists that centrism is the more patriotic political position because it adheres more strictly to American values and founding principles than to ideology. A balance between idealism and realism, centrism rejects shrill extremes and embraces reason, decency, and a practical perspective. To those who insist that centrism is the death of dissent, Mr. Avlon argues that centrism is dissent — from outdated political orthodoxies.

"Extremists and ideological purists on either side of the political aisle condemn compromise," he writes. "But inflexibility either creates deadlock or dooms a cause to irrelevance."

That's from the introduction to Independent Nation. The balance of the book is a compendium of short biographies of several U.S. presidents, senators, and governors and their personal journeys as they illuminate the theme of centrism.

Mr. Avlon says his purpose in writing the book was to give today's centrists a framework for understanding their frustration with extreme politics and a place for the politically homeless to hang their iPods. Or their heart monitors, as the case may be.

Extremists won't agree with Mr. Avlon that centrism is a patriotic position, but who cares? They've held the nation hostage long enough.

Meanwhile, Independents are the fastest-growing group of voters across the country, especially among the young, hundreds of whom have e-mailed Mr. Avlon since his recent appearance on The Daily Show with Comedy Central's Jon Stewart. A Pew Poll published last week in The Economist broke down voters as 39 percent Independent, 31 percent Democrat, and 30 percent Republican.

Socially liberal and fiscally conservative, Independents could be a powerful reckoning force by 2008. Politicians better wise up and tone it down.

A profile in courage — or obstructionism?

ANN McFEATTERS

WASHINGTON — Would you willingly work for a bully? A "kiss-up, kick-down" boss with a hair-trigger temper and a propensity for intimidation? Would you want your country to be represented by such a person, even a smart one backed by the President?

That's the dilemma for Republicans, as they ponder whether to be good team players and confirm President Bush's choice of John Bolton to be the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

The problem is that Mr. Bolton, one of the brightest stars in Mr. Bush's firmament of neoconservative thinkers, makes George Steinbrenner seem laid back. Mr. Bolton, say some former co-workers, can be a loud mouth, in-your-face jerk — not that we haven't seen that before in high-level government jobs.

This leads to a discussion of whether Sen. George Voinovich (R., Ohio) is a modern profile in courage or an obstructionist. Or both.

And it prompts a larger look at the role of dissent in Washington today.

A few days ago Mr. Voinovich suddenly struck his forehead with his hand during a meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and with a stricken look defied his President. He said a vote on Mr. Bolton's confirmation should be delayed to glean more information.

This forced courtly Richard Lugar (R., Ind.), chairman of the committee, to postpone the vote.

Since Mr. Voinovich asked for more time to consider Mr. Bolton's nomination, there has been a near-steady procession of people coming from behind closed doors with a ritualized litany about Mr. Bolton's relationship to underlings. He has tried to intimidate those who disagree, including intelligence analysts, and then said he didn't. Perhaps he tried to get a few dismissed. He yells. He pounds on doors. He glares. He does not, as they say, suffer ordinary mortals lightly.

Democrats, somewhat piously, have said it's not their disagreement with him on substantive issues — not even his long history of deriding, demeaning, and disdaining the United Nations — that give them pause. It's his "bullying."

But it was Mr. Voinovich who was the first Republican to sit up and insist that a more thorough investigation of Mr. Bolton is warranted.

Such a move is not done lightly. Mr. Bush was furious. Mr. Voinovich knows what is in store — White House pressure of the most intense kind.

Mr. Voinovich, who can be a maverick when he gets his hackles up, has been down this path before. He told the White House he would do whatever he could to block the President's efforts to make his tax cuts permanent, including voting against the entire budget, saying the nation can't afford ever-larger deficits. He also said the President is wrong to push for Social Security changes this year and has denounced some of the President's spending cuts as ill-advised.

As many Republicans have learned, this White House demands loyalty and has ways of making that understood. Mr. Voinovich's back better not itch, because the White House won't scratch it.

Voinovich can be a maverick when he gets his hackles up

Why Mr. Bush and Dick Cheney decided on Mr. Bolton for the U.N. post is a puzzle. He is abrasive, he doesn't like diplomatic dancing, and he all but hates the bureaucratic culture of the United Nations. But having made the decision, they seem surprised that at the 11th hour some senators are refusing to rubberstamp Mr. Bolton and exercising their constitutional duty to probe his record.

Running on parallel tracks with the Bolton nomination is the effort by some Senate Republicans to change the rules and kill the filibuster as used to delay or even prevent votes on some of Mr. Bush's most controversial judicial nominees. Ending a filibuster requires 60 votes. That is proving difficult to get to permit votes on nominees thought by some senators to be too ideological.

But the Bob Doles and the John McCains of the party are warning that killing the filibuster could backfire on the GOP, because some day Democrats again might be in control. The filibuster is often a frustrating tactic, but it's a democratic tool that protects the minority. Also, more than 200 of Mr. Bush's judicial nominees have been confirmed, with fewer than a dozen sidetracked.

The world is watching to see what those proselytizers of democracy, Mr. Bush and the Republicans, do with the filibuster, or to it, and what happens to Mr. Bolton.

Mr. Voinovich was courageously correct — Mr. Bolton must be thoroughly vetted before a vote. And for the good of democracy, the filibuster should be retained. Mr. Bush understandably doesn't want to risk losing, but the game has to play out or everybody, including the bully, loses.

DAVID SHRIBMAN

Recipe for disaster in Republicans' unwieldy majority?

SEN. George Voinovich of Ohio isn't a cult figure. He has admirers, but no adoring crowds await his pronouncements. He speaks for no one except himself; he's not one to lead a mass movement or be a popular symbol.

And yet when the Ohio Republican defected from his party colleagues the other day and balked at swift approval of President Bush's nomination of John R. Bolton to the United Nations, he became something of a symbol of the new challenge facing the Republicans who control both chambers of Congress and the White House: How to grow without growing apart.

The Republicans, to be sure, remain in a commanding position in Washington. But more than ever, there are signs that they are struggling to manage their majority.

It is a natural consequence of political triumph. Two oversimplifications make the case: The Democratic victory in the 1936 election ended up hurting Franklin Roosevelt, not helping him. And the Democratic Party's successes in the Lyndon Johnson landslide of 1964 were so big that the coalition became unwieldy and eventually led to a fracture that produced the worst possible consequence (two-word summary: Richard Nixon).

The next test of Republicans' solidarity comes not on the effort to give Mr. Bolton a new job but on the decision about whether Rep. Tom DeLay of Texas gets to keep his current position.

Mr. DeLay is the House majority leader whose iron hand delights Republicans (most of the time) and infuriates Democrats (all of the time). There hasn't been such a divisive figure on Capitol Hill since Wayne L. Hays, the Ohio Democrat whose tyrannical rule of the House Administration Committee extended to even the smallest items; in the mid-1970s, lawmakers avoided crossing Mr. Hays for fear that he would shut off the air conditioning in their offices. (Mr. Hays is now remembered best for putting a mistress, Elizabeth Ray, on his payroll. Ms. Ray said she didn't know how to type.)

Mr. DeLay is in a big mess now, in part because he traveled abroad on lobbyists' dimes, in part because he pays his wife and daughter very well for the political chores they do for him, but mostly because he is not a very pleasant man who has plenty of people who fear him but very few who like him.

The big fight in Washington is over the destiny of Mr. DeLay, whom the editorial page of the Wall Street Journal regards as a captive of the very interests he was sent to Washington to exterminate. He didn't help himself with remarks last week suggesting that Supreme Court Justice Anthony M. Kennedy was too activist and too isolated. That sort of thing is not done.

This fight has split Republicans at a time when they should be showing enormous unity. And yet they're battling about other things, too.

They're still holding postmortems on the Terri Schiavo case, an exercise that is revealing differences among Republicans in how they view the role of the judiciary in private matters. They are split over whether the Senate should eliminate the use of filibusters for judicial nominations, a particular irony given the artful way conservatives used the filibuster on civil-rights matters only four decades ago.

Republicans are still sticking by their man. They give the President an 87 percent approval rating, according to a Wall Street Journal/NBC News poll this month. But the same poll showed that removing Terri Schiavo's feeding tube won the support of 48 percent of Republicans, with 39 percent saying it was the wrong thing to do.

Almost three-fifths of Republicans believe that letting workers invest their Social Security contributions in the stock market is a good idea, but, still, 32 percent of Republicans don't think it's a good idea. That may bode ill for the President's domestic priority, especially since the opposition to private accounts is so strong on the Democratic side.

The calendar says the challenges to Republican unity will only mount. The field of GOP presidential hopefuls almost certainly will be the biggest it has been in two decades. In the 1988 campaign, such major figures as the President's father, Sen. Bob Dole of Kansas, Rep. Jack F. Kemp of New York, and television evangelist Pat Robertson tangled for the nomination. That was a year in which a sitting vice president (George H.W. Bush) was contending for the prize. No such figure appears in the Republican pantheon for 2008, raising the possibility that the party could engage in a divisive free-for-all.

That free-for-all will likely include a Southern social conservative (Senate Majority Leader Bill Frist of Tennessee); an Eastern moderate (Gov. George E. Pataki of New York); an idiosyncratic businessman born in Michigan, grounded in Utah, and elected in Massachusetts (Gov. Mitt Romney); a maverick war hero from the West (Sen. John S. McCain of Arizona);a populist war hero from the Midwest (Sen. Chuck Hagel of Nebraska); a slow-talking former lobbyist and onetime party chairman from the Delta (Gov. Haley Barbour of Mississippi); a Southern son of a football icon (Sen. George Allen of Virginia); a true-believing prairie conservative (Sen. Sam Brownback of Kansas), and maybe a Pennsylvania conservative who is rising in the GOP leadership (Sen. Rick Santorum).

That's quite a roster. And a roster like that is a recipe for division. The challenge is to assure that it is not a recipe for disaster.

MOLLY IVINS

AUSTIN, Texas — Good news! If there is a distinct possibility a Bush nominee is a vile-tempered, lying, ineffective bully, the U.S. Senate is willing to hold off on the vote for two weeks.

John Bolton was an amazingly bad choice for ambassador to the United Nations from the beginning. He has a long record of expressing contempt for and distrust of the United Nations. You may or may not consider that a reasonable position, but it is highly inadvisable in a diplomat. In addition, he was a notable failure as undersecretary of state for arms control and international security.

The problem of proliferation simply deteriorated under his guidance. Fewer weapons-grade nuclear materials were secured in the two years after 9/11 than in the two years before the attack. North Korea, which then had two nuclear weapons, now has as many as eight. After dealing with Mr. Bolton, the North Korean government called him "human scum" and "a bloodsucker," and declined to recognize him as an official of the United States. No one is claiming North Korea has a rational government, but any halfway-skilled diplomat could do better than that, and many have — including Bill Richardson.

Mr. Bolton also pushed to cut funding for the program to halt the nuclear proliferation of materials and failed to conclude a plutonium disposition agreement with Russia to eliminate 70 tons of weapons-grade plutonium. Russia has more dangerous unsecured nuclear material than any other country.

Many of Mr. Bolton's problems in the Senate hearings stemmed from his effort to drum up a "Cuba has biological weapons" scare. He tried to fire two intelligence officers who had the temerity to disagree with him. Under oath, he denied trying to have the men fired, but seven intelligence officials contradicted him. In a typically intemperate statement, Mr. Bolton had dismissed the opinion of the chief bio-weapons analyst at State as that of "a mid-level munchkin."

Perhaps Mr. Bolton's most dangerous mischief was repeatedly withholding information from Secretary Colin Powell and at least once from Secretary Condoleezza Rice. The Washington Post broke that story, including Mr. Bolton's failure to advise Ms. Rice before her European trip on the unpopularity of Mr. Bolton's campaign to oust Mohamed ElBaradei, the head of the International Atomic Energy Agency at the United Nations. Mr. ElBaradei had the gall to be right about WMD in Iraq and is [illegible] around the world.

Mr. Bolton is also the man who pushed to have the fake claim about Saddam's supposed Niger uranium put into the President's 2003 State of the Union Address. It is difficult to understand why the administration didn't nominate him for assistant undersecretary of the place where they stash embarrassing failures.

The official record is bad enough, but what emerged clearly at the hearings is that the man has a vicious temper. Former Assistant Secretary of State Carl Ford, a conservative Republican, said Mr. Bolton is a "kiss-up, kick-down sort of guy," who "abuses his authority with little people." He said Mr. Bolton is a "serial abuser."

Repeated testimony as to his nasty temper and unpleasant way of dealing with subordinates was heard, with more coming in all the time. Mr. Bolton, according to Washington Post journalist Richard Cohen, became furious and abusive when questioned by our Italian allies on why no WMD had been found in Iraq. Mr. Cohen said, "From what I saw, a bucket of cold water should always be kept at hand."

Perhaps the funniest comment on this controversy came from Danielle Pletka of the conservative American Enterprise Institute. After the decision to postpone the vote, she said: "This is a disgrace, the idea that temperament is suddenly important. There are legions who have gone before John, as well as members of Congress, who have behaved appallingly." So true. In fact, that's what Mr. Bush ran on twice, calling it "character." Diplomacy, like judging, requires a certain temperament.

Neither Mr. Powell nor his top deputy, Richard Armitage, have spoken publicly about Mr. Bolton, but Lawrence Wilkerson, who was Mr. Powell's chief of staff, told the New York Times: "But do I think John Bolton would make a good ambassador to the United Nations? Absolutely not. He is incapable of listening to people and taking into account their views. He would be an abysmal ambassador."

The right wing has gone nuts on this subject and is flaming all over the Internet about what a traitor Ohio Sen. George Voinovich is for saying he isn't ready to vote. Frankly, keeping the furor over this crank Bolton going is the best thing that's happened to the Democrats politically since Tom DeLay.

But the prospect of Mr. Bolton at the United Nations is so appalling — that is, assuming the Bush Administration has any interest at all in: A. getting anything done there, and B. our reputation around the world — I rather think it's time to forget politics and unite for the good of the country.

So far, the White House is sticking with the story that all of this was invented by nasty Democrats. But hey, even George W. Bush has admitted he can make mistakes. Maybe he'll be able to think of one now.

Dear Helen,
Shirley and I regret that we will not be able to make it to the Cousins Reunion on May 25th. However, we would appreciate you passing on to the cousins that we live in the Denver area, and if anyone is in our area, we would love to have them call us and visit. Our home phone number is 303/840-9162, and my cell number is 303/884-8012. We are 30 miles SE of Denver in Parker, CO. We have plenty of room to share with someone passing through or vacationing in the Colorado area. If they could give us a little bit of notice (since I am retired and love to go fishing), we would definitely be here for their visit.

Thanks and hope you have a great reunion.

PALATINE HISTORY

[This article has been published, with my permission as Irish Palatine Story on the Internet
in Irish Palatine Association Journal, No. 7 December 1996]

The Palatinate or German PFALZ, was, in German history, the land of the Count Palatine, a title held by a leading secular prince of the Holy Roman Empire. Geographically, the Palatinate was divided between two small territorial clusters: the Rhenish, or Lower Palatinate, and the Upper Palatinate. The Rhenish Palatinate included lands on both sides of the Middle Rhine River between its Main and Neckar tributaries. Its capital until the 18th century was Heidelberg. The Upper Palatinate was located in northern Bavaria, on both sides of the Naab River as it flows south toward the Danube and extended eastward to the Bohemian Forest. The boundaries of the Palatinate varied with the political and dynastic fortunes of the Counts Palatine.

The Palatinate has a border beginning in the north, on the Moselle River about 35 miles southwest of Coblenz to Bingen and east to Mainz, down the Rhine River to Oppenheim, Guntersblum and Worms, then continuing eastward above the Nieckar River about 25 miles east of Heidelberg then looping back westerly below Heidelberg to Speyer, south down the Rhine River to Alsace, then north-westerly back up to its beginning on the Moselle River.

The first Count Palatine of the Rhine was Hermann I, who received the office in 945. Although not originally hereditary, the title was held mainly by his descendants until his line expired in 1155, and the Bavarian Wittelsbachs took over in 1180. In 1356, the Golden Bull (a papal bull: an official document, usually commands from the Pope and sealed with the official Papal seal called a Bulla) made the Count Palatine an Elector of the Holy Roman Empire. During the Reformation, the Palatinate accepted Protestantism and became the foremost Calvinist region in Germany.

After Martin Luther published his 95 Theses on the door of the castle church at Wittenberg on 31 October 1517, many of his followers came under considerable religious persecution for their beliefs. Perhaps for reasons of mutual comfort and support, they gathered in what is known as the Palatine. These folk came from many places, Germany, Holland, Switzerland and beyond, but all shared a common view on religion.

The protestant Elector Palatine Frederick V (1596-1632), called the "Winter King" of Bohemia, played a unique role in the struggle between Roman Catholic and Protestant Europe. His election in 1619 as King of Bohemia precipitated the Thirty Years War that lasted from 1619 until 1648. Frederick was driven from Bohemia and in 1623, deposed as Elector Palatine.

During the Thirty Years War, the Palatine country and other parts of Germany suffered from the horrors of fire and sword as well as from pillage and plunder by the French armies. This war was based upon both politics and religious hatreds, as the Roman Catholic armies sought to crush the religious freedom of a politically-divided Protestantism.

Many unpaid armies and bands of mercenaries, both of friends and foe, devoured the substance of the people and by 1633, even the catholic French supported the Elector Palatine for a time for political reasons.

During the War of the Grand Alliance (1689-97), the troops of the French monarch Louis XIV ravaged the Rhenish Palatinate, causing many Germans to emigrate. Many of the early German settlers of America (e.g. the Pennsylvania Dutch) were refugees from the Palatinate. During the French Revolutionary and Napoleonic Wars, the Palatinate's lands on the west bank of the Rhine were incorporated into France, while its eastern lands were divided largely between neighbouring Baden and Hesse.

Nearly the entire 17th century in central Europe was a period of turmoil as Louis XIV of France sought to increase his empire. The War of the Palatinate (as it was called in Germany), aka The War of The League of Augsburg, began in 1688 when Louis claimed the Palatinate. Every large city on the Rhine above Cologne was sacked. The War ended in 1697 with the Treaty of Ryswick. The Palatinate was badly battered but still outside French control. In 1702, the War of the Spanish Succession began in Europe and lasted until 1713, causing a great deal of instability for the Palatines. The Palatinate lay on the western edge of the Holy Roman Empire not far from France's eastern boundary. Louis wanted to push his eastern border to the Rhine, the heart of the Palatinate.

While the land of the Palatinate was good for its inhabitants, many of whom were farmers, vineyard operators etc., its location was unfortunately subject to invasion by the armies of Britain, France, and Germany. Mother Nature also played a role in what happened, for the winter of 1708 was particularly severe and many of the vineyards perished. So, as well as the devastating effects of war, the Palatines were subjected to the winter of 1708-09, the harshest in 100 years.

The scene was set for a mass migration. At the invitation of Queen Anne in the spring of 1709, about 7 000 harassed Palatines sailed down the Rhine to Rotterdam. From there, about 3000 were dispatched to America, either directly or via England, under the auspices of William Penn. The remaining 4 000 were sent via England to Ireland to strengthen the protestant interest.

Although the Palatines were scattered as agricultural settlers over much of Ireland, major accumulations were found in Counties Limerick and Tipperary. As the years progressed and dissatisfactions increased, many of these folk seized opportunities to join their compatriots in Pennsylvania, or to go to newly-opened settlements in Canada.

There were many reasons for the desire of the Palatines to emigrate to the New World: oppressive taxation, religious bickering, hunger for more and better land, the advertising of the English colonies in America and the favourable attitude of the British government toward settlement in the North American colonies. Many of the Palatines believed they were going to Pennsylvania, Carolina or one of the tropical islands.

The passage down the Rhine took from 4 to 6 weeks. Tolls and fees were demanded by authorities of the territories through which they passed. Early in June, the number of Palatines entering Rotterdam reached 1 000 per week. Later that year, the British government issued a Royal proclamation in German that all arriving after October 1709 would be sent back to Germany. The British could not effectively handle the number of Palatines in London and there may have been as many as 32 000 by November 1709. They wintered over in England since there were no adequate arrangements for the transfer of the Palatines to the English colonies.

In 1710, three large groups of Palatines sailed from London. The first went to Ireland, the second to Carolina and the third to New York with the new Governor, Robert Hunter. There were 3 000 Palatines on 10 ships that sailed for NY and approximately 470 died on the voyage or shortly after their arrival.

In NY, the Palatines were expected to work for the British authorities, producing naval stores [tar and pitch] for the navy in return for their passage to NY. They were also expected to act as a buffer between the French and Natives on the northern frontier and the English colonies to the south and east.

After the defeat of Napoleon (1814-15), the Congress of Vienna gave the east-bank lands of the Rhine valley to Bavaria. These lands, together with some surrounding territories, again took the name of Palatinate in 1838.

Tulpehocken.... (which means "land where the turtle sang and wooed") name of a "creek."

Tulpers - I'll repeat much of this for the benefit of those who've newly joined Tulpe Gp. It's a synthesis of info Dave and Sue (and others) have sent. By no means am I plagerizing; I give full credit to each of you!

The Swatara, a tributary of the Susquehanna, led to the Tulpehocken Creek, which "fed" into Lancaster Co. Now, a distinct area of research within Berks and Lancaster Co.'s and the larger area.

When the Palatinites in NY (ltr PG - PA Germans) got fed up w/the British attitudes toward them, Weiser and others began to look for other/better places to settle. Apparently, Wm. Penn's folks had contacted them, offering land in the western part of PA. Seemingly, the ulterior motive for the Penns was to provide themselves (in eastern PA) a westerly buffer betw/against the Indians.
But the PA authorities didn't throw down so many roadblocks against German settlement, as did the Brits (who'd allowed only 10 acres per; not sufficient for subsistence farming.)

The story of the Palatinites' migration is mythical! (You might like to order Earl W. Ibach's "map" I mentioned in my other msg.) Last summer, Jerry (my hus) and I drove the trace of that migration fr Schoharie in just a few hours.
To think how those folks went across land and by water, and the second group drove their livestock across country, defies imagination.

At any rate, Conrad Weiser (father and son) knew about the Tulpehocken area of Berks Co. thru numerous contacts with the Indian people of that area, and trips made to the region. I don't know how long the negotiations w/the Pennsylvanians took, but the decision was finally made to make the move to the Tulpehocken. A petition exists which names those original migrants.

(At this point, Art, I'll copy in some research that a cousin of mine did. It will make the msg quite lengthy, but until I know if you can receive "files," this will have to do.)

Subj: Tulpehocken information

Hi everybody,
I just returned from the Berks County Historical Society where I copied down some information regarding the emigration of New York Palatines to Pennsylvania in 1723 (Judy, you should find this interesting). So, here it is:

The Palatines who settled in New York found the living conditions to be poor. In 1723, 33 families left New York and, upon the invitation of Governor William Keith of Pennsylvania, settled in the Tulpehocken area. The following is a petition to Governor Keith from these Palatinates who would eventually settle along the Tulpehocken creek.
"To his excellency, William Keith, Baronet, Governor of Pennsylvania, &c, &c, the Honourable Council
The petition to us, the subscribers, being thirty-three families in number, at present inhabiting Tulpehocken creek Humbly Sheweth,
That your petitioners being natives of Germany, about 15 years ago, were by the great goodness and royal bounty of her late majesty, Queen Anne, relieved from the hardships which they then suffered in Europe, and were transported into the colony of New York, where they settled. But the families increasing, being in that Government confined to the scanty allowance of ten acres of land to each family, whereon they could not well subsist. Your petitioners being informed of the kind reception which their countrymen usually meet with in the Province of Pennsylvania, and hoping they might, with what substance they had, acquire larger settlements in that Province, did last year (in the spring of 1723), leave their settlements in New York Government, and come with their families into this Province, where, upon their arrival, they applied themselves to his excellency, the Governor, who, of his great goodness, permitted them to inhabit upon Tulpahaca Creek, on condition that they should make full satisfaction to the proprietor or his agents, for such lands as should be alloted to them, when they were ready to recieve the same. And now, your petitioners, understanding that some gentlemen, agents of the proprietor, have ample power to dispose of lands in this province. And we, your petitioners, being willing and ready to purchase, do humbly beseech your Excellency and council to recommend us to the favorable usage of the proprietors agents, that upon paying the usual prices for lands at such distance from Philadelphia, we may have sufficient rights and titles made to us for such lands as we shall have occasion to buy, that our children may have some settlement to depend on hereafter, and that by your authority we may be freed from the demands of the Indians of that part of the country, who pretend a right thereto. And we humbly beg leave to inform your Excellency and council, that there are fifty families more who, if they may be admitted upon the same conditions, are desirous to come and settle with us. We hope for your favorable answer to this our humble request, and as in duty bound shall ever pray, &c."

The above, as well as the portion to follow, is taken from "The German Emigration from New York Province into Pennsylvania: Part V of a narrative prepared at the request of the Pensylvania German Society" by Rev. Matthias Henry Richards, D.D. and presented in 1899.

This next section deals with the long journey from New York to Pennsylvania which these original settlers made:
"Guided by the indians, and not under the leadership of either the elder Weiser, or his gifted son, as some suppose, both of whom came later, the pioneers of 1723, with much toil and labor, cut their way through the forest, after which, with their wives, little ones and animals, they followed, by day, the scanty track they had made in the woods and slept at the foot of it's trees, wooed to slumber by its ceaseless noises, during the night, until the forty or fifty miles, which seperated them from the (Susquehanna) river, had been traversed. Then came the building and launching of the heavy rafts, to contain their domestic utensils, and of the light and speedy canoes for themselves, on which they were to continue their long journey to the haven of rest, accompanied slowly by their cattle driven along the river's banks. As forest and open space, trees, rocks, and sandy beach, succeeded each other with tiresome monotony, and as camp-fire followed camp-fire at the close of the day, they little reckoned that they had swept by the spots where the flourishing towns of Binghamton and Oswega were, later, to stand.

As they rounded the curve where the Lackawanna joins the Susquehanna at Pittston, who was the wizard of their number whose divining rod would point to the priceless diamonds beneath them and tell them that their dumb animals were treading underfoot riches of far greater value to mankind than all the pearls and rubies for which the world was striving? Whose fancy amongst them all could have pictured or imagined the beautiful city of Wilkes-Barre, and the coal breakers everywhere rearing their heads into the air as though they were indeed giants issuing from their long slumber in the bowels of the earth? As they exchanged greetings with the Indians in their village of Shamokin can it be that there rose up before any one of them a picture of the hideous scenes of their near future, or any foresight of their murdered sons and daughters and the blackened ruins of the homes towards which they were hastening, or did the troubled dreams of any other reveal to him the fort at Sunbury, no longer Shamokin, filled with its soldiers, and sound into his astonished ears the booming of it's guns? Down the Grand stream, which was bearing them, they slowly floated until their watchful eyes caught sight of a long log cabin on its shores, where now stands the capitol city of Pennsylvania, and, as they looked upon the home of John Harris, it is altogether probable they saw, for the first time in all their journey, the dwelling of a white man. Cheered by the sight on they went, until they came to where the Swatara Creek joined it's waters with those of its mighty brother, and at the spot where Middletown now stands, our wanderers at last changed course and entered the stream which told them they were drawing near the goal towards which they had been hastening for so many weary days. To reach this goal was to endure a few more hardships and trials, and when, in the lovely Tulpehocken (which means "land where the turtle sang and wooed") region, nestling at the foot of the Blue Mountains and wavered by its numerous streams, they pitched their camp for the last time, it was HOME.

Outside of the surrounding Indian villages, we have no record of previous settlements, so that, in very truth, they had taken up "vacant lands"." Thus is the connection of the Tulpehocken Settlement with the region of Schoharie, New York.

Later, in the same paper, Rev. Richards writes:
"There were constant accensions to the number of the first feeble band. In 1728 other families left Schoharie

LEONARD ANSPACH, CASPAR HOHN GEORGE SCHMIDT, GEORGE ZEH, JOHANNES NOECKER, JOHANN JACOB HOLSTEINER, MICHAEL LAUER, ANDREAS KAPP, JACOB WERNER, JOHANN PHILIP SCHNEIDER, JACOB KATTERMAN, JACOB LOWENGUT, HEINRICH SIX, PHILIP THEIS, CONRAD SCHARF

At a later point in he work, Rev Richards writes:
"Before the erection of Berks County, in 1752, the township of Tulpehocken was a recognized division, being a part of Lancaster County in 1729. Because of its great size, in 1734, another township was laid off from it and erected, called "Heidelberg" to commemorate that part of the fatherland from whence many of the settlers came. The early inhabitants, therefore, of the old townships of Heidelburg and Tulpehocken, were composed, mainly (though not entirely) of the immigrants from New York Province.
Rupp names the following as amongst the first settlers:

There are histories you should be able to obtain via "inter library loan." Perhaps some of our Tulpers could recommend some.

Re Tulp Gp - it's a group of folks who share an interest in PG surnames, mainly in the Tulpehocken area of Berks and Lancaster Co.'s. With many of the families, however, the range quickly became much wider, as counties were quickly erected in that original area - now incl: Lebanon, Dauphin, York, Adams, etc.

Dear Helen,

Sorry it's taken me a while, but the file cabinet has been locked, and I always think of looking this up when the secretary is out of the office.

This is a copy of a copy of the burial records (We copied those records to preserve the book.) You Might want to contact one of our members, Lawrence Schacht (3451 Starr Ave., Oregon; 691-0041) for he tells me that Sophia Louisa Schacht is his grandmother.

...he said that the usual orders on vice, liquor and gambling have been carried out by the department.

It is known that Chief Wolfe had been in conference several days with Safety Director Albert P. Fall and Mayor Thacher concerning the changes in the vice squad. It is reported that many complaints of vice conditions have been reported to the city administration and that the mayor demanded a general cleanup.

SNAKES

Police Called When Boys Release Dozen Reptiles.

"Spring is here," said Patrolman Kraemer to Patrolman Maher as their scout car speeded toward the 3200 block of North Erie street late Saturday afternoon.

A neighborhood gang had started activities in the garter snake business and had released an even dozen of the small reptiles before a store in that block.

Patrolmen Kraemer and Maher picked the wriggling snakes from various hiding places until they had accounted for half a dozen.

Permits Classified

The local office has issued 38 permits to dealers permitted to sell six or more bottles to be taken from the premises, 96 to persons operating hotels, clubs and restaurants and nine to distributors. In addition to these, some places in Toledo were operating under licenses obtained directly from Columbus.

The beer shortage continued in Toledo Monday with wholesale dealers reporting plenty of orders but very little beverage to meet the heavy demand.

Call For Observance Of Good Friday Made

To all Citizens of Toledo:

For several years Toledo has responded loyally to the annual call for a more reverent observance of Good Friday. This call has been issued by a central committee representing all the Catholic and Protestant churches of the city. Each year has shown a commendable increase in the number of our citizens who have availed themselves of the privileges of worship sponsored by the church of their choice—the attendance record showing that 53,321 persons attended worship service between 12 and 3 o'clock on Good Friday last year.

Now the call goes out again—the 10th annual call. It goes to all members and friends of our churches through pastors and priests, to business men and women, to employers and employes, to clubs, fraternal societies, school and civic organizations, and to all our fellow citizens. With an urgency born of fellow-feeling and the spirit of helpfulness and hope for better things, the committee invites those who have shouldered their own and others' responsibilities and are carrying the burden valiantly, those who have assumed such responsibilities and gone down beneath the load just as valiantly, and those who have diligently searched for work and could not find it, to assume the quest your continued good will and co-operation. May we ask, therefore, that wherever possible, business be suspended from 12 to 3 on Good Friday, thus releasing employers and employes that they may spend the hours in the worship of Almighty God and Jesus Christ, Whom He hath sent to redeem a lost world.

The example of President Roosevelt by worshiping in his parish church before delivering the inaugural message is worthy of our imitation though our concerns be less. Nor is it amiss for each according to the measure of his responsibilities and opportunities to make the sentiment of the last paragraph of that address his own: "In this dedication of a nation we humbly ask the blessing of God. May He protect each and every one of us. May He guide me in the days to come."

We have the indorsement of Governor White upon our Toledo project, Mayor Thacher has issued a proclamation asking the observance of Good Friday, and in addition many churches will observe this year the 19th centenary anniversary of the crucifixion of Our Lord. Therefore, we feel confident of your help in bringing to the attention of many "the things which belong unto their peace" by encouraging a [illegible] upon possible [illegible]

William and his wife, Eva Bihl, had a family of nine children. Another daughter, Mary, married Frank Nelson. They had a daughter, Vera, and a son, Lawrence. Louis and his wife, Louise Busson, had eight sons and two daughters. Henry married Mary Fleitz and had two daughters and a son. The third daughter, Lizzie, married Charles Traver and had two sons.

CHRISTIAN SCHACHT FAMILY

Christian Schacht, born in Mecklenberg, Germany on June 26, 1829 and his wife, Sophia Von Gaun, born March 30, 1833, came to Oregon, Ohio in 1847. They bought 30 acres at the northeast corner of Starr and Coy roads. They brought with them a spinning wheel, a metal steamer trunk, plus a supply of clothing, dishes, and other useful articles to make life in this new world easier and more pleasant. They were industrious and prospered. Later they bought another 30 acres at the northeast corner of Seaman and Lallendorf roads. Mr. Schacht was also a strict disciplinarian and very honest as could be testified to by some of his grandsons.

The Schachts raised a large family -- four boys and three girls, and Mrs. Schacht kept busy, as did other women of her day, making clothing, spinning wool, and knitting many articles of wool to keep her family warm. The children, their spouses, and their families are as follows:

Charles wed Elizabeth Burr. They lived first on York Street and later moved to his family homestead on Starr during the illness and deaths of his parents. Sophia Schacht passed away May 22, 1903 and Christian on May 10, 1905. Charles had one son, Alfred, who was four years old when his mother, Elizabeth, died. Charles then married their housekeeper, Mary Mack, who had taken care of his wife through her long illness. She survived Charles and raised Alfred, selling some of the property on Starr Avenue. The remaining 20 acres were sold to Faith United Methodist Church. Alfred moved to the Home of Mercy in Williston, Ohio and she moved to the Lutheran Old Folk's Home on Seaman Street where she survived Alfred and lived to be nearly 95 years old. All of these people, and many more of this family, are buried in the cemetery behind First St. Johns Lutheran Church.

Louise, the oldest daughter, wed John (Hoot) Onnenga. They lived on the site now occupied by Fassett Junior High School. Their children and spouses were: Richard - Mary Koch; Christian - Mary Schroeder; Charles - Minnie Papenfus; Henry - Maude McKuen; Sophia - John Jacobs, and after his death, Thomas Kunich; Louise - John Dahme; Martha - Arthur Driftmeyer; Mary - George Stein; and Anna - Clifford Schwierking.

Mary Schacht wed Emil Ulrich. Their family home was thought to be the first in the Dearborn Avenue area, later moving to Toledo. Their children were: Betty - Elza Wagner; Anna - Ray Daska. After Mr. Ulrich's death Mary wed a Mr. Feist, and their children were: Elsie - Gordon Coe; Harold who died at the age of two; and Marie - Clarence Vogeli, whose first wife, Anna Kopfmann, had passed on. (see below)

Sophia wed William Textor. Their children and spouses were: Jestbert (Jess) wed Olive Dier and lives on his family's homesite on Brown Road; Wilhelmina - John Reinhardt Moritz, and after his death, John Koester; Louise - Fred Hoefflin, and after his passing, Elery Brooks; Justine - George Miller; John and Edward did not marry. Both remained at home until their passing on.

Anna wed Fred Kophmann (sometimes Koptmann). This family is reputed to have lived first in the Seaman - Coy Road area, later moving to Toledo. Children: ? Emma Papenfus,(sister of Minnie, married to Charles Onnenga); Fred - Augusta Knopp; Nicholas - Alma, sister of Augusta; Louis - Mary Humphrey; William - Lucille Harder; Anna - Clarence Vogeli; and Selma - Edward Logar.

John Schacht wed Louise Schmidlin, (sometimes known as Smithlin, a custom of changing names as was done by many immigrants) who lived across the street on Starr. They lived on the farm at Seaman and Lallendorf roads. Their children and their spouses were: Wilhelmina - Robert Koester, and after his death, Frank Lampley; William - Viola Sigler, and upon her passing, Anna Orosz Arvay; Alma - Elmer Kohne; Esther - Orrin Steigerwald; Dora - Albert Nelson, and after his death, John Morton; Lawrence - Dorothy Welsh; Earl - Dorothy Hintz, and after her death, Helen Wypohowski; Herbert - Esther Horseman; and Lucille - William Bradley, and after his death, Charles Farrell.

William, the only one of the family who remained single, was killed in a tragic accident. He was coming home from church one Sunday in his horse-drawn buggy and was hit by a locomotive at the railroad crossing on Otter Creek Road. When his horse came home by himself, the family knew something tragic had happened to him.

Lawrence, son of John, is theonly descendant still living on some of the original Schacht property. He bought an acre from his Aunt Mary and built a home on Starr Avenue. Before building, he tore down his grandfather's barn, built from the virgin timber from the site. Everyone in his family including his wife, Dorothy, a member of the first graduating class of Clay High School in 1930, his sons, Charles and Lawrence (Larry) and daughters, Beverly and Ruth, participated in building the home at 3451 Starr Avenue.

Many of the descendants of Christian are still living in Oregon, contributing to its economy and growth. Some are on farms and others are in its commerce and industry. Melvin Driftmeyer is supervisor of cemeteries, Jack Hoefflin is a teacher at Clay High School. Two great-grandsons are graduate engineers. John Morton has a degree in mechanical engineering from Ohio University. Charles Schacht has a degree from Ohio State and his Master's and Ph. D. from Carnegie - Mellon University. John is in Venzuela, South America supervising the building of plants there for Owens-Illinois. Charles is a senior research engineer with United States Steel Corporation in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania and is also engaged in translating nuclear-technology to industrial technology. Larry Schacht is in management with Seaway Foodtown Supermarkets. Eugene Schacht, son ofEarl, has a painting and paper hanging business in Oregon.

Although the following is not the Schacht family history, it is part of Oregon development. Anthony, brother of Emil Ulrich, had a tavern at Navarre and Dearborn. The tavern was taken over by his son, Frank, who turned to the grocery and meat business. His son, Franklin, joined him and in turn became one of the founders of Seaway Foodtown Supermarkets. After this venture other businesses moved in to provide competition and thus contributed to the growth of this area and Oregon. This family, with the Diefenthaler family, promoted the development of the recreation area in the nearby Lake Erie region.

JOHN MARTIN SCHMIDLIN FAMILY

John Martin Schmidlin, born in the city of Baden, Breisach County, Wittenberg, Germany, in 1822, and his wife, born in Schwebendingen, Ludwigsburg County, Wittenberg, Germany, in 1835, came to Oregon, Ohio in 1852 and purchased 20 acres at the southeast corner of Starr and what is now Coy Road. They cleared some of the land and built a log cabin. Later they cleared off the remaining timber to farm the land. A daughter, Sophia, was born to them.

While Sophia was still very small, Mr. Schmidlin decided to volunteer for service in the army during the Civil War. He was enrolled as a private in Company A 182nd regiment, Ohio Volunteer Infantry on September 15, 1864, and was mustered into service for one year by Colonel Jesse S. Norton, U. S. Army. He was 42 years of age at the time. On November 1 this regiment was ordered to Nashville, Tennessee, and on November 6 joined General Sherman's forces, where the 182nd took part in the battle of Nashville. They remained there, performing guard and provost duties until they were mustered out on orders from the War Department.

Anna Munzenmeyer, II married William Storber.

Anna Munzenmeyer, I drowned when a small child.

Fred Munzenmeyer, one of the sons of Gottlieb, married Edith Nissen. They live on a farm on Cedar Point Road. Their son, Karl, enlisted in Hq. Co. 180th Infantry 45th Division during World War II. He was killed somewhere in France on September 10, 1944.

PHILLIPS, JOSEPH

Joseph Phillips was born in Germany on March 19, 1837. He came to America in 1853 and worked on the lakes for two years. In 1854, he settled in Oregon Township. He enlisted in the 55th OVI serving one year. He worked in the sawmill at the corner of Coy and Jerusalem Roads. He cleared land and developed a farm where he made a home for his family.

REIHLE, ANDREW

Andrew Reihle, with his wife Margueretta Rapp Reihle, came from Germany to Tiffin in 1867. Both were born in Wittenberg, Germany.

In 1870, they moved to Oregon Township and Mr. Reihle was employed to clear Presque Isle.

In 1874, he purchased 20 acres of land at the corner of Lallendorf and Corduroy Roads. Here he built a board house and reared his family. He cleared the land and purchased fifteen more acres adjacent to his farm. He served as road supervisor for some time.

Mr. Reihle was a member of the St. John's Lutheran Church, a good upright citizen and a thrifty farmer.

He had two sons and seven daughters. Julia was born in Tiffin in 1868. She married Louis Munding. Anna, born in 1871, married Robert Enderlin, a farmer who had a home on Corduroy Road. John married Elizabeth Munzenmeyer. John purchased a farm on Corduroy east of Momeneetown. His youngest daughter married Nelson Danforth who is Chief of Police of Oregon. They live in the old homestead.

Lena was born in 1875. She married William Patterson and moved out of Oregon Township. Louise was born in 1877 and died at the age of four. Mary was born in 1880. She married George Munzenmeyer. They lived in Oregon Township on the Munzenmeyer homestead for twenty years, then moved to Toledo. Andrew was born in 1882 and died at the age of two. Clara was born in 1886. She married Edward Bury. They moved to Texas. Bertha was born in 1888. She taught school at Raymer for a number of years. She married Frank Wheeler.

Mr. Reihle died in 1903. His wife moved to Toledo where she lived until 1933.

SCHACHT, CHRISTIAN

Mr. and Mrs. Schacht came from Mecklenburg, Germany to Oregon in 1847. They purchased a farm on the corner of Starr and Coy Road. Here they cleared the land and became thrifty and prosperous citizens of Oregon Township.

The steamer trunk and the old spinning wheel are still prized by the family. The steamer trunk is now in possession of the Textor family who live on the Brown Road. The trunk is over one hundred years old. This same fact may be true of the spinning wheel. Mrs. Schacht carded and spun wool. She knitted stockings for the entire family.

Alfred their son remained on the farm all his life. After Mr. Schacht's death Mrs. Schacht remained on the farm until 1955 when she sold the twenty acres to the Faith E.U.B. Church. She is now living in the Lutheran Home on Seaman Road.

SCHNEIDER, CHRISTIAN

Christian Schneider arrived from Germany in 1866 and bought a farm. He was a gardner.

SCHRAG, ROBERT

Robert Schrag and his wife, Barbara, came from Germany to Oregon Township in 1868. He purchased forty acres of land on Seaman Road which he cleared. He built a brick house and established a home where he lived the remainder of his life. They had three sons, John, Robert Jr., Matthew, and three daughters, Rose, Mary and Bertha.

Robert died when his oldest son, John, was about twelve years of age. At this early age John had to assume many responsibilities. He helped his mother support the family. He married a girl from Germany. They had two children, Violet and Arthur.

A problem of drainage confronted these farmers but such difficulties did not prevent their continuing their efforts as other nearby neighbors were engaged in the same efforts, that of developing densely wooded, swampy land into cleared, well-drained farms.

They had two children, Vallie and Adolph. Later Vallie married John Dippman and Adolph married Helen Wolfe.

Ernest Nelson also came from Sweden. He bought a farm on Seaman Road. He married Anna Everhardt. They have four children: Carl, Walter, Edward, Robert.

ONNENGA, HOOT

Hoot Onnenga came from Germany to Oregon Township in 1867 at the age of 17. He married Louise Schacht on April 17, 1875.

ROMSTADT, KARL

Karl Romstadt was born in Hessen, Germany, in 1834. He and his brother, Christ, came to America in a sailboat and settled on a farm at the corner of Navarre and Wynn in Oregon Township. Here Karl, with the help of Christ, built a log house. In 1864, Christ entered the service and returned in 1866. He lived with his brother and family.

Karl married Katherine Hummel who was born in Baden, Germany. She came to America in a steamboat. Karl and Katherine had a family of ten children, seven boys and three girls. They built a new frame house on the corner of Wynn and Navarre. The members of the family include: Jacob, his wife Ida Hornstein and five children; John, his wife Lena Settlemeyer and their two daughters; Charles and his wife Minnie Schroeder with a family of three girls and a boy; Caroline, one of the daughters, married Daniel Meyer and had two children. Christian remained single.

TRANSFER OF FUNDS

The clerk was instructed to obtain permission from State Legislature to transfer funds left in Building to Cemetery Fund and to transfer $400 from Road to General Fund.

Permission granted by Special Act of Legislature March 16, 1894.

FIRST MEETING AT TOWN HALL

The first meeting was May 31, 1894, when trustees accepted the new town hall.

GROWTH BRINGS NEED FOR THIRD TOWN HALL AND EQUIPMENT BUILDING

SUB-DIVISIONS

In time people were attracted to Oregon Township because of its accessibility to the city, its open spaces, and low tax rate. Sub-divisions developed such as Starr Avenue Addition, Brands, Cresceus Heights, Mound View, Eastmoreland, South Shore, Cace Farm, and others. This also brought the need for fire protection to the attention of the trustees.

SITE

On May 20, 1937, the trustees purchased an additional acre adjoining the property on which they had erected the second town hall.

BIDS FOR THIRD TOWN HALL KNOWN AS EQUIPMENT BUILDING

The bids were received and opened for this building and contracts awarded by the Trustees on September 12, 1940. The total contracts, general, plumbing, and heating, were awarded for $12,798.

This was called an equipment building since the trustees had enough money to build the new building without a vote of the people. According to law if it had been designated as a Town Hall, a vote of the people would have been required.

CONTINUED GROWTH BROUGHT NEED FOR EQUIPMENT BUILDING

The new building at the corner of Wynn and Seaman provided space for fire equipment, trustee's and other business meetings, members of the fire department, citizens' groups and others. The trustees realized, as the township grew, more machinery would be required and the building now occupied would be needed for fire department and police. Since they had money that could be invested in another equipment building without the vote of the people they decided to work toward this goal.

GROWTH OF POPULATION

The study of the population showed continued and rapid growth as follows:

1900	2,702
1910	2,568
1920	3,500
1930	5,756
1940	6,409
1950	10,193

RAPID GROWTH BRINGS PROBLEMS

New sub-divisions required new roads, more lighting, more fire and police protection and many other requirements necessary for dealing with problems which must be met.

Therefore, the trustees proceeded to prepare to meet the needs.

NEW SITE PURCHASED

If another building was to be erected, a new site would be required. Property on Seaman, just east of the site at Wynn and Seaman, was chosen. Eight acres were purchased from Frank Pokornik on March 8, 1955, for $9,000. Later they added ten acres to this site at a cost of $10,000.

EQUIPMENT AND MAINTENANCE BUILDING

In October 1955, a contract was awarded to build a new building at a cost of $160,685. Here they stored the equipment needed for the upkeep of their roads and meetings of the trustees. The fire and law enforcing departments were given the building at Wynn and Seaman.

RECREATION CENTERS

PRESQUE ISLE

Presque Isle is located at the mouth of the Maumee River. It is bounded on the south by Otter Creek and the river, on the west by the river, on the north by the bay and on the east by swampy ground which extends into farm land owned at one time by Byron Case. As stated previously, when Peter Navarre and his brothers came to this territory, they found it occupied by the Ottawa Indians. From a study it is assumed that Indians had been living here since 1763. It is possible that they lived in the vicinity at a much earlier date.

The government made a treaty with the Indians at Maumee in 1833. At that time Presque Isle with that portion of land shown on maps of Oregon marked Autokee Tract was given to Chief Autokee.

On the 4th of July, 1835, the Chief sold Presque Isle to Robert A. Forsyth and George B. Knaggs for $1,000.

In time it became the property of F. N. Quale. A map in an old atlas of Lucas County shows it contained 40 acres of land.

In 1895, Mr. Quale converted Presque Isle into a summer resort. A bridge was built connecting it with Bay Shore Road just west of Otter Creek.

The Pastime, a river boat, carried families from Toledo to the Isle. Picnic tables invited them to spread their well filled baskets and enjoy themselves. The goodies displayed at the lemonade and ice cream stands attracted the children who were successful in obtaining nickles and dimes from their parents.

A dance hall, merry-go-round, and restaurant claimed their share of pleasure seekers.

The resort was closed in 1900, and the old Pastime sold to a company at Detroit where it was used as a garbage scow.

Presque Isle was sold to Cleveland Cliffs Iron Company. It is now owned by C & O Railroad and Lake Front Dock Companies.

NILOSEAN BEACH

This was a large strip of land along the Bay Shore extending westward from Sonerant's Mill. This space was covered with tall native trees of elm, hickory, walnut, and ash. Among these trees a number of swings were placed where children and young people enjoyed themselves. There were also some small bath houses. The beach was sandy and many people enjoyed bathing and swimming.

Many picnics were held in this park and arrangements were made for boat rides. This included rowboats and sailboats.

At one of the Sunday School picnics a friend took a group of young people in his sailboat. While on the water a storm came up. The majority of the group had never been in a storm. The wind blew, the boat was difficult to manage, and the owner of the boat had a serious time getting his group back to the beach. When they arrived, they were far from being happy. Frightened, soaked to the skin, and worried about their best clothes and hats, they presented a sorry sight. However, when the sun came out and their clothes dried, their spirits revived with the exception of a few girls, who could not forget that their hats were ruined, and their dresses spotted with colors that dripped from their new hats.

PEARSON PARK

The Metropolitan Park Board, with the help of the East Toledo and other civic clubs, awakened enough interest in a tract of three hundred twenty acres to purchase same at an auction.

BRIEF HISTORY

A tract of land containing six hundred and forty acres was owned for a number of years by the Wabash Railroad. This land was often involved in litigations, during which times it was held by some bank. Owing to this situation it became known as the Bank Land.

About two hundred eighty acres were gradually cleared and developed into farming land. This left the remainder lying between Wynn Road on the east, Lallendorf on the west, Navarre Avenue on the south, and the Northwestern Electric Line on the north, still intact. It is covered with a wide variety of native trees, wild flowers, and ferns. After the purchase of the portion on which the Ohio Saving Bank and Trust Company held a mortgage, there were still forty acres desired to complete the new park. This was held by the Blodgett Estate, Mr. Blodgett being one of the original men identified with the Wabash Railroad. He died in 1925. Later the tract was offered to the people of Toledo and Lucas County at a price less than one-fifth of what had been asked in 1925. It was purchased and thus the park area was completed.

IMPROVEMENT MADE

The Metropolitan Park Board interested the Federal Authorities in the Park. They assigned two

A HISTORY OF OREGON'S EARLY RECREATIONAL CENTERS PART VI

Man has always needed moments in his life when he could experience some pleasure and relaxation. As far back as the middle 1800's members of this community have seen fit to fulfill the need for public recreation. In this section we will briefly examine the history and background of four areas that either have been, or still are, places available for the recreation and relaxation of the members of the Oregon community.

PRESQUE ISLE

As mentioned previously, Presque Isle was given to Chief Autokee in 1833 as part of the Treaty of Maumee. On July 4, 1835, the Chief sold this isle to Robert Farsyth and George Knaggs. Years later these approximate 40 acres of land became the possession of F. N. Quale.

In 1895, Mr. Quale turned this land into a type of summer resort which included a dance hall, merry-go-round, various refreshment stands, and a restaurant. A river boat named the Pastime was the main source of transportation to the isle from the Toledo area. At times the Wilbur Opera Company would entertain the crowds. (Refer to pages 311 and 312 in the History of Oregon and Jerusalem book for pictures of this area.)

For various reasons the Presque Isle resort was closed in 1900 and the land was sold to the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Company. Today this land is owned by the C. & O. Railroad and the Lake Front Dock Company.

The membership at present is 630, 217 of which are children.

The church has been and is being faithfully served by the following pastors:

Reverend Edward J. K. Schmidt, March 1903-1910
Reverend R. E.M. Engers, 1910-1914
Reverend A. C. Wuchter, 1914-1917
Reverend R. H. Benting, supply pastor, 1917-1918
Reverend Edward J. E. Kuhlman, 1919-1948
Reverend Paul H. Buchholtz, 1948-1953
Supplied by various pastors, 1953-1954
Reverend Ronald D. Homrighausen, 1954-1956-1961
Reverend Fredrick Lambertus (retired), 1956-3 months
Reverend Phillip A. Tamaru, 1956-

The present pastor, Reverend Phillip A. Tamaru, came to the United States from Estonia. He spent the war years 1945-1960, in Germany.

ST. JOHN'S GERMAN LUTHERAN CHURCH

Reverend John Doerfler, pastor of the Salem Lutheran Church on Huron Street in Toledo, began mission work among the scattered Lutheran families in Oregon Township. Services were held in a log cabin at the corner of Consaul and Otter Creek in the early 1850's. Beginning with eight families they soon outgrew the log cabin and moved to Fred Clausing's barn located on Jerusalem Road.

In 1861, they built their first church twenty-one by thirty-one feet on the present site. The charter members were: John Fredrick Clausing; John F. W. Bitter; John Christopher Ackerman; Leonhard Schmidt, Fredrick Koehne; John Dietrich Koehne; and Henry Tiedjen.

In 1862, the congregation called Reverend Carl Beckel as its first local pastor. He planned the incorporation of the church under the laws of Ohio on June 23, 1863. The first trustees were: Fred Clausing; John Bitter; and Gottlieb Burr.

Under Reverend Beckel's leadership, the membership increased and a new church was built in 1876. A small school building was erected near by and a parochial school was established.

As the enrollment of the school increased, there was need of a director of the school. Christian Lohmann was employed and continued until 19(when the parochial school was discontinued. T Orphan's Home then established an elementa school which has continued in operation to t present time.

Reverend Gideon Rausch succeeded Revere Beckel on April 22, 1894, serving the congregati for six years when Reverend William Wacke to charge. The early settlers spoke German and t services were conducted in this language until 19 when English services were introduced. In 19 regular services were conducted in English a German. By 1934, the German services were d continued and the few who could not speak Engli attended services in the Old People's Home.

The second church, forty by sixty feet, w built in 1876, at a cost of $3,500. The membersh continued to increase and in 1928, the prese church was built at a cost of $80,000 and equipp with a new pipe organ at an additional cost $4,000.

At present there is need of additional educatio al facilities which the congregation are arrangi to build in the near future.

The pastors who have served St. John's are:

Reverend John Doerfler, Founder
Reverend Carl Beckel, 1862-1893
Reverend Gideon Rausch, 1894-1900
Reverend William Wacke, 1900-1929
Reverend C. A. Wiederanders, 1929-1947
Reverend Gerd H. Heidmann, 1947-1961

FIRST ST. MARK'S LUTHERAN CHURCH

This church located on Grasser Street ne Pickle was organized under the leadership of Re erend Markscheffel in 1863. It was known as t Evangelical Lutheran St. Marcus Gemeinee. Lat it became known as First St. Mark's Luther Church.

Three lots were donated by Mr. and Mrs. Hen Brand in 1874. The parsonage and parish hall we built in 1888.

New members were added and in 1939, th requested a full time pastor.

In 1947, the church was remodeled at whi time a basement was constructed to be used as Su day School rooms and a kitchen. The new educ tional unit was completed in 1960. This makes Louise lived in Oregon with her husband, Alfred Yenzer.

An interesting story is told about the Leonard sisters who later married Fred and Louie Miller. As young girls, they took the course called the "Scroll System." In the early days dress patterns for both women and men's garments were not available. They were successful in fitting and making garments for both men and women. This efficient work led to their being nicknamed the "Cuts and Fits."

Frederick Miller married Fredricki Leonard Gardner who had a son, Leonard. The Millers had three children, Roy, Lorain (Jim), and Mrs. Violet Carper.

Louie Miller and Augusta had two children, Louie, Jr. and Doris. Both of these children live on the old homestead. Louie, Jr. remained single. Doris married Donald Brenner. Their son, Donald, married Sally Shepherd and are now living in Toledo.

MOTTMILLER, CHRIST

Christ Mottmiller came from Baden, Germany with his mother. They settled on Presque Isle and did some farming. He married Salome Kaufman who came from Germany. Christ bought 40 acres of land at the corner of Corduroy and Wynn roads. He built a log house and began clearing the land. Later he bought 80 acres across the road from his home. The family assisted their parents in clearing the land and developing it into well kept farms.

Freida, the oldest child, married Charles Swade who kept a store.

Mary married Rhinehart Joehlin. Their home was on a farm on Cedar Point Road.

John married Anna Monty. He remained on the farm at the corner of Corduroy and Wynn roads. They had two children.

Fred married Clara Irmen. They lived with Fred's mother on Corduroy. They have two sons, Joe and Clarence.

Laura married William Cousino. They built a home on the farm facing Wynn Road.

Amelia married Charles Hammond who had a meat market in Toledo

Henry married Rosa Smarkel. He built a home on the corner of Wynn and Seaman. This was part of the eighty acres which Christ Mottmiller purchased. Henry had a son, Carlton. He and his family moved to Texas. The son returned to Ohio and lives near Stony Ridge.

Edward married Ida Meier and remained on the old homestead at the northwest corner of Corduroy and Wynn roads. They have four girls and two boys. The girls are Margaret, Edna, Irma, and Darlene. Their sons are Vernon and Eldon.

Margaret married Verne Brough.

Edna married Albert Wolf. Their son, James, a graduate of Clay High, attended Toledo University one year.

Irma married Wilson Murphy. Their daughter, Janet, married John VanSant.

Darlene married Dwaine Betz, who had a market on the corner of Stadium and Cedar Point. Later Dwane became a real estate salesman. They have one daughter, Dawn.

Eldon married Geraldine Phillips. They have three children who attended school in Oregon -- Edward, Ida, and Lila.

Vernon married Maude Wolfe. They have two children -- Mary Ellen and Vernon, Jr. Vernon now has a home on Stadium Road. All the children built homes on the old homestead at the corner of Wynn and Corduroy.

THE MAUMEE RANGE LIGHTS

In the early years a light house was erected on Turtle Island. Later, a crude structure was erected in Maumee Bay. This required constant repairing.

On July 1,1898, Congress passed an act appropriating $75,000 for the construction of a new light house. The appropriation was then raised to $100,000. Construction was started in 1901. A crib 1300 feet long and 20 feet deep was built four miles out in Maumee Bay. During the years of 1904 to 1906 more improvements were made. Wooden towers were erected several hundred yards apart. This made it necessary for the tender to row from one light to another. Later, a walk was built connecting the two lights. The wooden towers were replaced in 1918. At this time improved living quarters were built for the tender and his family.

The lights were encased in framework of glass prisms. One light of 50,000 candle power and the other 70,000 could be seen 16 miles away. They were arranged in a series, flashing alternately every ten seconds -- one red and two white.

The fog signal, operated on compressed air, was considered the best and most modern signal device in use.

The first keeper was William Hickory Jennings. From early March until navigation closed, Mr. Jennings tended the lights and aided travelers in trouble. Arthur Bauman, aged 62, and his mother, 82, were the last residents on the Maumee range light. He was keeper for eleven years.

The light served navigators for over 57 years and was a welcome sight to all who traveled to and from Toledo. It is still missed by many who travel in small crafts.

The development of electronic navigation and the improvement of the channel ended the need for this range light.

After a few accidents were caused by the crib, the government sent the U. S. Corps dredge "Erie" to remove the obstruction. The crew took 500 feet of perfectly preserved timbers from the old base and 400 cubic yards of stone. In addition, the pipe structure which housed the navigation light was removed. The area of about 60 feet square and nine feet deep was cleared. The work was completed August 26, 1949.

Many living along our shore line and farther inland never realized the value of this light house. Those traveling these waters in small boats still miss the guidance of these lights. However, improvements must be made from time to time and those traveling the lakes find the newer method a marked improvement.

HOW OHIO BECAME KNOWN AS "BUCKEYE" STATE

An account is given in the History of Toledo and Lucas County about the buckeye tree.

The story tells of a Buckeye Dinner given as the 45th anniversary of the settlement of Cincinnati on December 26, 1833. At this dinner, Mr. Daniel Drake, an intelligent physician of the west, gave a description of the buckeye tree. According to the account, a European visiting in Moscow was attracted by the beauty of the tree which he learned had been brought from Siberia. He brought one home and naturalized it. From this, other trees were developed. They flourished and spread through Europe to England. He said the qualities of our native Ohioans made the tree a fit representative of the hardy pioneers of Ohio.

At the time I compiled this information, I was under a time deadline to enter it in the Oregon-Jerusalem History Book II. I really did not have time to get the vitals - births, deaths, dates of marriages, etc. Unfortunately the children of Christian & Mary have passed on and their children have also died or live in communities unknown.

Perhaps some other grandchildren could supply some more information.

Believed Solved

Three burglaries are believed to have been solved following the arrest of a 22-year-old man in the basement of the Bell drug store, 2110 Broadway, where he was found early Friday by Patrolman Bleeb.

The man's fingerprints are said to tally with those found after burglaries July 19, at the Western Dry Cleaning Co. office, 1536 Western avenue; April 8 at the Hoskinson drug store, 1812 Broadway, and Dec. 8 at the Jewel Tea Co. office, 939 Nebraska avenue. Police say the man confessed to the first two burglaries.

Actress' Fiance Dies in Crash

Robert C. Reade, Birmingham, Ala., who was to have married Mabel Mehaffie, lead of the Palace stock company here last year but who now is in Dayton, was killed in an airplane crash at Great Slave Lake in northern Canada early this week. Miss Mehaffie has been advised by wire.

The couple was to have been married May 5. Mr. Reade had been searching for his brother, Pfc. who was killed in an airplane accident several weeks ago.

Officers to Be Installed

Ahura Sanctorum No. 261, A. M. O. S., will install officers Saturday evening in Viking temple, Broadway near South avenue. Duvall's orchestra will play for dancing.

$230 Ring Stolen

M. W. Kerr, 1123 Superior street, reported to police Saturday that a diamond ring valued at $230 was stolen Friday from a locker in an A. & P. store at 719 Bronson avenue.

Missing Man Sought

Police Friday were asked to search for Marion Zemotarski, 30, of 215 Pearl street, who has been missing since Thursday night. He is a watchman.

Dear Mrs Read:

I appreciated the information you sent me and I thank you so much. I was quite young when some of my Grandmother Dunlap's family passed away. I did know some of them as years ago we had reunions in the family of the Schacht side of family. It was interesting to know how the Reining's were connected with the Schachts.

I don't know if you would be interested but I am enclosing what I know of the families of some of my Grandmothers brothers and sisters families. Maybe you would know of some of the folks.

I do not have any dates for some of the families so did not enter any.

I am still working on the burial plots for St Johns Cemetery. I found on my Grandfather Onnenga's plot someone listed on the Church Plot Record by name of Rufka Onnenga was buried - Her date was 1907. I wonder if she is the same person you mentioned on our first conversation a year ago.

Well I will close now and thanks again for your information.

Yours truly

Esther Onnenga Stein

C. P. Gatch Joins Chrysler Staff

C. P. Gatch

C. Paul Gatch, automobile salesman of wide experience, has just been named manager of the used car branch of the Landman-Griffith Co., Chrysler and Plymouth distributor in the Toledo territory. Announcement of his appointment was made Thursday by W. E. Griffith, president of this company.

Mr. Gatch not only has had wide experience as a salesman but also in the management of used car operations, having been assistant manager of this department of the John H. Thompson Co., Chrysler distributor in Detroit, the largest Chrysler agency, it is said.

Earl Brazzil Dies

Funeral services for Earl Roy Brazzil, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brazzil, 627 Elm ...set, who died Wednesday in Women's and Children's hospital, have not been arranged. Burial will be in Forest cemetery. The body is in the Murphy & Son funeral home.

Doctors Prescribe

Santal Midy for Healthy Bladder and Kidneys

Improper functioning of kidneys and bladder is a serious condition and may affect the entire system for years. At the first sign of weak kidneys or bladder, take Santal Midy. It has been successfully used for nearly half a century for rapid relief from the suffering caused by such weakness—and quickly helps correct the condition.

MOTORISTS DIE IN WRECK

rossing Collision With Train Costs Lives of To-ledoans at Sheffield.

TWO MEN, TWO WOMEN, VICTIMS IN ACCIDENT river Fails to Observe 'Opposite' Train After Braking.

The bodies of four Toledoans, two en and two women, were still at ffs O. Monday morning, await-; disposition following the Sun-y afternoon collision in which y were killed at Sheffield cross-.

The dead are:

Miss Florence A. Waldvogel, 1, of 1037 Dorr street.

Miss Margaret O'Connor, 29, of 11 Woodland avenue.

Ernest G. Klingbeil, 32, of 1229 Lincoln avenue, a solicitor for the ws-Bee and fiance of Miss aldvogel.

Martin N. Waldvogel, 27, of 1037 Dorr street, brother of Miss Waldvogel.

Investigation Monday of the Delta death crash disclosed there are neither warning bells nor gates at the crossing.

The four motored to Delta shortly before noon. The girls were stenographers at the DeVilbiss Manufacturing Co. office, 1302 Dorr street. Waldvogel, a machinist at the same plant, was driving.

Didn't See Train.

As he approached the Lake Shore railway tracks, he applied his brakes to avoid a train that was passing. A stone road running parallel to the tracks on the north side crosses to the south side and again parallels the right-of-way.

After an outbound train passed the crossing, Waldvogel began driving across the tracks, ignorant of the approach on the other track of a fast train from Toledo.

As the machine reached the rails it was struck squarely by the locomotive. The car was wrecked, and three of its occupants mutilated almost beyond recognition.

Two of the bodies were caught on the pilot of the engine. The others were knocked 50 feet. After the bodies were returned to Delta by the train crew, identification of the men was established by papers in their possession. The names of the women were learned following inquiry in Toledo among the men's relatives.

Waldvogel bought the car a month ago. Klingbeil and Miss Waldvogel, who were engaged, but had not decided on the date for their marriage, had been his guests on previous rides.

The Waldvogels leave their mother, Mrs. Mary Waldvogel, brothers, Frederick, William, Norman and Arthur, and a sister, Mrs. Mamie Anstead. Arthur is in France.

Miss O'Connor is survived by her mother, Mrs. Rose O'Conner, and a brother, Harry. Klingbeil leaves his mother, Mrs. Anna C. Klingbeil, and a sister, Amanda.

"BAYER CROSS" ON ASPIRIN

Always Ask for Genuine Bayer Tablets of Aspirin"

Only Aspirin tablets with the safety "Bayer Cross" on them are genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin," proved and made by Americans and proved safe by millions of people. Unknown quantities of fraudulent Aspirin Tablets were sold recently by a Brooklyn dealer which proved to be composed mostly of Talcum powder.

"Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" should always be asked for. Then look for the safety "Bayer Cross" on the package and on each tablet. Accept nothing else! Proper directions and dosage in each Bayer package. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

COMMITTEE IS CHOSEN FOR OVERLAND 50-50 PLAN

Details of the fifty-fifty profit-sharing plan announced recently by John N. Willys, will be worked out by the following committee chosen from employes of the Overland plant:

L. M. Ellis, chairman; A. H. Servis, secretary; H. G. Fitch, Harry Bothast, L. A. Miller, J. R. Woodruff; W. J. Highley, Wilfred H. Emery, Harry A. Webb and Frank R. Jackson.

STEAMER OPENS LAKES SEASON

Wauketa Arrives From Detroit on First 1919 Trip; Cargo Carriers Engage.

The 1919 season for lake passenger vessels was officially opened Sunday for Toledo, when the Wauketa steamed in from Detroit at noon, her first trip between the two cities. She left at 4:30 with 100 passengers and will make the round trip daily until later in the season, when she will be replaced by the Owana.

The steamers Greyhound and City of Toledo will not be put on the line until Sugar Island park is opened in June.

The tug Louisiana, Capt. Ray Cromwell, left Sundaywy morning for Sarnia, Ont., to bring back the Standard Oil barge Calvert. The vessel upon her arrival here Monday will take on a cargo of crude petroleum for Sarnia, where the Standard Oil Co. has extensive refineries. This will be the first movement of Standard Oil bottoms this season.

Shifting of lake steamers wintering here, in preparation for the resumption of uplake traffic, was begun Saturday, when the freighter Paisley was moved from the Ironville docks to the Toledo Shipbuilding Co.'s yards, to undergo repairs. Nearly 20 barges, wintering in Presque Isle park harbor, have been hauled at their moorings. This probably will be the last of the Pittsburgh Steamship Co.'s fleet to leave away from this port.

ACETYLENE EXPLOSION CAUSES $25,000 F

A property loss amounting to $25,000 was the result of a fire, which destroyed the garage operated by Edward Guckemer and Peter [illegible] on the Dixie highway at Rossford Saturday night.

An acetylene tank exploded in the interior of the building, caused by the backfire of a motorcycle, and blew out the side walls. This fed the blaze which spread rapidly beyond the control of the Rossford firemen and engine company No. 1 of Toledo which was called to the aid of the local department.

Three motorcycles and 13 cars were burned.

Sweet Brothers of East Toledo, who owned the garage, have been negotiating a deal for the sale of the property which they valued at $7,000.

POLICE GUARD ECKHARDT ON HIS WAY TO GERM

St. Louis, Mo., March 24.—Guarded by a cordon of United States secret service agents, Heinrich von Eckhardt, former German minister to Mexico, and Johannes Bernstorff, former German consul general to Mexico, and their entourage, arrived here from Laredo, and departed last night for New York, where they will sail for a Spanish port, en route to Germany.

The League Of Nations

NUMBER FOUR.

By N. D. Cochran

Editor of The News-Bee

YOU have read Articles XII and XVI of the constitution. As much of the dispute bears on these two articles, the argument of Senator Knox, opposing the league, and ex-President Taft, favoring it, will be given.

Senator Knox says: "If any of the high contracting parties breaks its covenant under Article XII, then we must fly to arms to protect the covenant."

Again he says: "Whether or not we participate, and the amount of our participation in belligerent operations is determined not by ourselves, but by the Executive Council in which we have seemingly, at most, but one voice out of nine, no matter what we think of the controversy, no matter how we view the wisdom of the war over the cause, we are bound to go to war when and in the manner the Executive Council determines."

Senator Knox also says: "The power of the Executive Council is that of recommending what effective military or naval forces each member of the league shall contribute to protect the covenants of the league, not only against league members, but nonleague members, that is, as a practical matter, the power to declare war."

Ex-President Taft, replying to Senator Knox, says:

"When Senator Knox's attack upon the validity of the covenant is analyzed, it will be seen to rest on an assumption that the Executive Council is given executive powers which is unwarranted by the text of the covenant. The whole function of the Executive Council is to be the medium thru which the league members are to exchange views, the advisory board to consider all matters arising in the field of the league's possible action and to advise the members as to what they ought by joint action to do.

"The council makes few if any orders binding on the members of the league. After a member of the league has agreed not to exceed a limit of armament the Executive Council must consent to raising the limit. Where the Executive Council acts as a mediating and inquiring body to settle differences not arbitrated its unanimous recommendations of a settlement must satisfy the nation seeking relief if the defendant nation complies with the recommendation.

TRAIN HITS AUTO NEAR DELTA; 4 TOLEDOANS DIE

ERNEST KLINGBEIL

MARTIN N. WALDVOGEL

The lives of four Toledoans were wiped out late on Sunday afternoon at Sheffield's Crossing, a half mile east of Delta, when a swift passenger train, bound for Toledo, struck an auto in which they were riding. The crash demolished the auto, carrying two of the party on the pilot of the engine for 600 feet, and hurling the occupants of the front seat nearly 50 feet into a ditch.

NEWS-BEE MAN KILLED.

They were killed instantly.

They are: Ernest Klingbeil, 26, of 1229 Lincoln-av, an advertising solicitor for The News-Bee.

Martin N. Waldvogel, 21, 1037 Dorr-st, assistant superintendent at the DeVilbiss manufacturing plant.

Miss Florence Waldvogel, 24, a sister of Martin, and Klingbeil's fiancee.

Miss Margaret O'Connor, 21, of 931 Woodland-av.

The girls were stenographers at the DeVilbiss plant.

KILLED IN EMBRACE.

The bodies of Klingbeil and Miss Waldvogel were carried on the pilot of the engine for 600 feet. They were found locked in each other's arms. Klingbeil was smiling.

Waldvogel, driving, had stopped at the Delta side of Sheffield's Crossing

From a name in Klingbeil's pocket, Frank W. Collins of 1918 Walnut-st was notified. He notified Desk Lieutenant Larry Swindeman at Central Police Station. Swindeman notified relatives and friends, who hurried to Delta and positively identified the four victims.

MOTHER TOLD NEWS.

Mrs. Mary Waldvogel, widowed mother, collapsed when she heard of the tragedy. Besides the mother, four brothers, Frederick, William, Norman and Arthur, and one sister, Mrs. Mamie Ansted, survive. Arthur is in France.

Miss O'Connor is survived by her mother, Mrs. Rose O'Connor, and a brother, Harry.

Klingbeil leaves his mother, Mrs. Anna C. Klingbeil, and a sister, Amanda.

The bodies will be brought to Toledo on Monday.

And they may not know how these Toledo and northwestern Ohio boys who were decorated with the French cross at Brest, by order of General De Goutte, of one of the great French armies, won their honors, or how these other Toledo and northwestern Ohio boys won the Belgian war cross.

THE SUPREME TEST.

But each cross or medal represents some supreme test and here are the boys that received the honors:

French Croix De Guerre: Captain Stanley Wolfe, Fremont; Corporal Sam Manel, Corporal John Maher and Corporal Amos T. Hill, all of Toledo.

Belgian war cross: Major H. B. Lowery, Napoleon; Captain Ed A. Kurtz, Fostoria; First Lieutenant Frank Buehler, Fremont, and Howard Zimmer and Sergeant Billy Nelson of Toledo.

Nelson, single handed, rounded up a machine gun nest and captured seven Germans.

OTHERS DECORATED.

Sergeant Edward D. Flynn of Bryan, Sergeant Howard E. Ellis of Clyde, John L. Clark of Oak Harbor, Sergeant Glen Winslow of the Signal Platoon, a former Bell Telephone worker at Toledo; Sergeant Russell Diercks of Toledo, Sergeant Lyle Knaggs, Corporal Richard Warrener and Corporal John Sayville, of Toledo, Sergeant Leo H. Shaw of Hillsboro, Corporal Howard Bruegger of Napoleon and Private George S. Bundshuh of Fremont.

And they wont know of the deed of bravery and sacrifice that drew from General Farnsworth, of the 37th, divisional citations for Captain Clarence Childs of Fremont, who, however, did not return with the troops, but who was promoted to his majority and was made athletic director in the Le Mans area; First Lieutenant Tom Farrell of the Signal Platoon of the 147th, and of whom Colonel Galbraith speaks highly; Wagoner Leon R. McNaull, son of the Toledo tire maker; Sam Rantalfi, Tom Parka of Company B and Franklin Bellmer of Napoleon.

NAPOLEON HEROES.

Jesse Lance, Sandusky; Evan Grimm, Napoleon; Fred Kuhlman Napoleon; Company C, Daniel Gillette, Carl H. Pollock, Elmer Olson and Vincent Jankowski, all of Toledo.

Company D, Wray Laird, Clarence Cousino, of Toledo; Archie Dillon

clare war."

Ex-President Taft, replying to Senator Knox, says:

"When Senator Knox's attack upon the validity of the covenant is analyzed, it will be seen to rest on an assumption that the Executive Council is given executive powers which is unwarranted by the text of the covenant. The whole function of the Executive Council is to be the medium thru which the league members are to exchange views, the advisory board to consider all matters arising in the field of the league's possible action and to advise the members as to what they ought by joint action to do.

"The council makes few if any orders binding on the members of the league. After a member of the league has agreed not to exceed a limit of armament the Executive Council must consent to raising the limit. Where the Executive Council acts as a mediating and inquiring body to settle differences not arbitrated its unanimous recommendations of a settlement must satisfy the nation seeking relief if the defendant nation complies with the recommendation.

"These are the only cases in which the United States, as a member of the league would be bound by action of the Executive Council. All other obligations of the United States under the league are to be found in the covenants of the league, and not in any action of the Executive Council. When this is understood clearly, the whole structure of Senator Knox's indictment falls.

"The Executive Council is a most necessary and useful body for coordinating the activities of the league, for initiating consideration by the members of the league of their proper joint and individual action, and for keeping all advised of the progress of events in the field of the league jurisdiction.

"But his treatment of Article XVI is a fair illustration of the reasons he advances for ascribing to the Executive Council super-sovereign power. Article XVI is the penalizing section. Whenever a member of the league violates its covenant not to make war under Article XII, it is an act of war against the other members, and they are to levy a boycott against the outlaw nation.

"There is in the covenant no covenant or agreement by them to make war. An act of war does not produce a state of war unless the nation acted against chooses to declare and wage war on account of it. The Executive Council is given the duty of RECOMMENDING what forces should be furnished by members of the league to protect the covenants of the league.

"By what manner of reasoning can the word 'recommend' be converted into a word of direction or command? Yet upon this interpretation of the meaning of the words 'recommend,' 'advise,' and words of like import as they occur in many articles, depends his whole argument as to the powers of the Executive Council under the covenant and their super-sovereign charter."

wiped out late on Sunday afternoon at Sheffield's Crossing, a half mile east of Delta, when a swift passenger train, bound for Toledo, struck an auto in which they were riding. The crash demolished the auto, carrying two of the party on the pilot of the engine for 600 feet, and hurling the occupants of the front seat nearly 50 feet into a ditch.

NEWS-BEE MAN KILLED.

They were killed instantly.

They are: Ernest Klingbeil, 26, of 1229 Lincoln-av, an advertising solicitor for The News-Bee.

Martin N. Waldvogel, 31, 1037 Dorr-st, assistant superintendent at the DeVilbiss manufacturing plant.

Miss Florence Waldvogel, 24, a sister of Martin, and Klingbeil's fiancee.

Miss Margaret O'Connor, 21, of 931 Woodland-av.

The girls were stenographers at the DeVilbiss plant.

KILLED IN EMBRACE.

The bodies of Klingbeil and Miss Waldvogel were carried on the pilot of the engine for 600 feet. They were found locked in each other's arms. Klingbeil was smiling.

Waldvogel, driving, had stopped at the Delta side of Sheffield's Crossing to let a westbound passenger train pass. The road runs parallel with the railroad tracks until it turns across the tracks sharply. The machine would then be facing toward Toledo. In this position, the passenger train going west completely shut off the party's view of the tracks from that direction.

After the westbound train passed, Waldvogel started the machine across the tracks, driving directly in front of an eastbound flier. The crash was heard in Delta, a half mile away.

TRIED TO WARN THEM.

The auto was hurled thru the air. Bert Williams, 35, of Delta, was riding with his family and had stopped nearly a hundred feet behind the Waldvogel machine. Seeing the train and the party's impending deaths he tried to shout a warning. His voice was lost in the roar of the train, and the crash of the accident.

Williams and Erna Harlen, 22, another Delta autoist, and the train crew rushed to the victims' aid, but they were already dead.

Klingbeil died as the rescue party reached the pilot of the engine. The Waldvogel girl's clothing was not torn nor soiled by the accident. Her left leg, right arm and skull are fractured. Klingbeil's neck was broken.

Waldvogel's death was caused by a fractured skull and internal injuries. Miss O'Conner's left leg and arm and her skull were fractured.

CORONER INVESTIGATING.

Dr. J. A. Wilkinson, Delta, and Fulton-co coroner, is investigating the accident. Dr. C. L. Hutchins of Delta was called, but the victims were dead when he arrived.

The bodies were placed on a train and taken to the undertaking parlors of Newell Planson & Co. in Delta. Their addresses and names were found in their clothing.

Frank W. Collins of 1918 Walnut-st was notified. He notified Desk Lieutenant Larry Swindeman at Central Police Station. Swindeman notified relatives and friends, who hurried to Delta and positively identified the four victims.

MOTHER TOLD NEWS.

Mrs. Mary Waldvogel, widowed mother, collapsed when she heard of the tragedy. Besides the mother, four brothers, Frederick, William, Norman and Arthur, and one sister, Mrs. Mamie Ansted, survive. Arthur is in France.

Miss O'Connor is survived by her mother, Mrs. Rose O'Connor, and a brother, Harry.

Klingbeil leaves his mother, Mrs. Anna C. Klingbeil, and a sister, Amanda.

The bodies will be brought to Toledo on Monday.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR PHYSICIAN OR OTHER PERSON CERTIFYING TO CAUSE OF DEATH

(This certificate should be filled out after the funeral, if practicable, and should be delivered to the undertaker.)

It is very important that the CAUSE OF DEATH be certified in accordance with the following instructions. See that every statement is full and complete. Make a plain statement of the disease causing death, or in case death was due to external causes (violence), state the accident or injury which caused it. Never report symptoms or conditions (such as "Anemia," "Asthenia," "Coma," "Collapse," "Convulsions," "Debility" (Congenital," "Senile," etc.), "Dropsy," "Exhaustion," "Heart failure," "Old age," "Shock," "Inanition," "Marasmus," "Uremia," etc.) as the cause of death, but always the disease or injury which caused them. Do not report mere symptoms (pain, vomiting, etc.) even though they may have been the most distressing part of the case. Do not report indefinite or unknown causes of death, such as "Cancer," "Tumor," "Stroma," "Sarcoma," "Carcinoma," "Malignant disease," "Blood poison," "Septicemia," "Pyemia," "Uremia," "Meningitis," "Abscess," "Hemorrhage," "Embolism," "Thrombosis," "Gangrene," "Ulceration," "Necrosis," "Jaundice," "Bronchitis," "Pneumonia," "Pleurisy," "Peritonitis," "Nephritis," "Cystitis," "Colitis," "Enteritis," "Hepatitis," "Gastritis," "Neuritis," "Neuralgia," "Rheumatism," "Diabetes," "Locomotor ataxia," "Paralysis," "Epilepsy," "Apoplexy," "Hydrocephalus," "Spinal disease," "Chronic disease," "Chronic inflammation," "Chronic nephritis," etc. The contributory (secondary or intercurrent) affections need not be stated unless important. Examples: "Measles" (disease causing death), 20 ds.; "Bronchopneumonia" (secondary), 10 ds. Never report mere symptoms or terminal conditions, such as "Asthenia," "Anaemia" (merely symptomatic), "Atrophy," "Collapse," "Coma," "Convulsions," "Debility" (Congenital," "Senile," etc.), "Dropsy," "Exhaustion," "Heart failure," "Old age," "Shock," "Inanition," "Marasmus," "Uremia," etc., as the cause of death, but always the disease or injury which caused them. Do not report indefinite or unknown causes of death, such as "Cancer," "Tumor," "Stroma," "Sarcoma," "Carcinoma," "Malignant disease," "Blood poison," "Septicemia," "Pyemia," "Uremia," "Meningitis," "Abscess," "Hemorrhage," "Embolism," "Thrombosis," "Gangrene," "Ulceration," "Necrosis," "Jaundice," "Bronchitis," "Pneumonia," "Pleurisy," "Peritonitis," "Nephritis," "Cystitis," "Colitis," "Enteritis," "Hepatitis," "Gastritis," "Neuritis," "Neuralgia," "Rheumatism," "Diabetes," "Locomotor ataxia," "Paralysis," "Epilepsy," "Apoplexy," "Hydrocephalus," "Spinal disease," "Chronic disease," "Chronic inflammation," "Chronic nephritis," etc. The contributory (secondary or intercurrent) affections need not be stated unless important. Example: "Measles" (disease causing death), 20 ds.; "Bronchopneumonia" (secondary), 10 ds. Never report mere symptoms or terminal conditions, such as "Asthenia," "Anaemia" (merely symptomatic), "Atrophy," "Collapse," "Coma," "Convulsions," "Debility" (Congenital," "Senile," etc.), "Dropsy," "Exhaustion," "Heart failure," "Old age," "Shock," "Inanition," "Marasmus," "Uremia," etc., as the cause of death, but always the disease or injury which caused them. Do not report indefinite or unknown causes of death, such as "Cancer," "Tumor," "Stroma," "Sarcoma," "Carcinoma," "Malignant disease," "Blood poison," "Septicemia," "Pyemia," "Uremia," "Meningitis," "Abscess," "Hemorrhage," "Embolism," "Thrombosis," "Gangrene," "Ulceration," "Necrosis," "Jaundice," "Bronchitis," "Pneumonia," "Pleurisy," "Peritonitis," "Nephritis," "Cystitis," "Colitis," "Enteritis," "Hepatitis," "Gastritis," "Neuritis," "Neuralgia," "Rheumatism," "Diabetes," "Locomotor ataxia," "Paralysis," "Epilepsy," "Apoplexy," "Hydrocephalus," "Spinal disease," "Chronic disease," "Chronic inflammation," "Chronic nephritis," etc.

● A proposed International Park pavilion, which is to include a restaurant. The matter had been before the plan commission May 9, but action was deferred because of a lack of a quorum.

● Renovation of a building at 701 Jefferson Ave., and demolition of two buildings south of the former Columbia Gas of Ohio building at 127-137 Erie St. — the Shornack and Veller's Livery buildings. The plan commission recommends approval.

Significant architectural elements from these buildings are to be identified, salvaged, and donated to the Landmarks Preservation Council, or the Reynolds arboretum for reuse in Toledo.

● Violent crimes by juveniles increased 85 per cent between 1987 and 1991.

● Out of every 10 homicides by juveniles, three were killings of other children.

Dr. Phillips also pointed to a 1993 study by the National Center for Education Statistics to show how pervasive the problem is.

In a survey of sixth through 12th graders across the country, half said they had seen weapons in their schools and 40 per cent said there were gangs there. If nothing is done to counter the rise in juvenile violent crimes, the rate will double by 2010, Dr. Phillips said.

Though he did not blame the media, as "one of the most extraordinary influences on this society in our time," it has contributed

CLYDE — Arthur Hendricks, a member of the Ohio Track and Field Hall of Fame and a legendary coach at Clyde High School who once led his team to the state track championship, died Saturday in Woodsview Nursing Home here.

He suffered a stroke and had Alzheimer's disease.

Mr. Hendricks, 90, launched his track career in 1938 when he became head coach at Clyde High School. His team took the state championship in 1953.

A coach for 26 years, he continued to be heavily involved in the sport after his coaching days ended. In 1966, he became a founder of the former Blade Relays, which grew to be one of the largest high school meets in the Midwest, spanning two spring weekends and involving hundreds of boys and girls. Through the years, Mr. Hendricks served as meet director of the event.

"He was an excellent coach," said Bob Fox, whom Mr. Hendricks coached at Clyde High School in the late 1940s and early 1950s. "He built up morale and was very well liked. He told us to do the best you can. You weren't criticized because you couldn't win."

Mr. Hendricks, who was known as "Coach," was inducted into the Track and Field Hall of Fame in 1986. "I'm just as surprised about this as anyone," he said at the time. "It's very nice."

In 1992, Mr. Hendricks was in

A WORD OF COMFORT

In what tone do you say "I hope so" when somebody tells you that you are destined to become great of heart, big of spirit, and an inspiration and a comfort to your fellows?

Do your tone and manner signify that you never expect it or that you are quietly, steadily working toward it?

Examine your expectations and let those dominate which fit in with your sincere conception of the will of the loving God Who is now caring for your best-beloved and guiding you toward the hour of reunion.

—Frederick G. Budlong.

Army Air Crash Takes 11 Lives

Bomber Hits Peak In New Mexico

DES MOINES, N. M., Oct. 19 (AP) Eleven Army fliers were killed in the crash of a four-motored bomber on Sierra Grande peak in northeastern New Mexico Saturday.

Such a plane, with 11 aboard, was reported missing on a training flight from an air base at Rapid City, S. D., but whether it was the bomber which crashed was undetermined pending an investigation by Army authorities.

Wreckage of a bomber was found by two sheep herders after their curiosity had been aroused before dawn that morning by a light on the mountain.
